

Lone Doctor in Mountain Town Goes Berserk

Wounded, Captured After Shooting at Friends, Children

Silverton, Colo. —(AP)— The lone doctor in this mountain town of 1,400 persons went berserk late yesterday and was wounded and captured after firing random shots at a group of children and two friends.

Dr. Charles O. Spencer, about 35, collapsed with a shattered rifle in his hands as police and volunteers seized him.

His capture ended an afternoon flurry in which he fired at least eight shots. No one was hit. Dr. Spencer suffered metal splinters in the face and a bullet crease on his right leg.

He was taken to Mercy hospital at Durango, 45 miles south of here, then to La Plata county jail. No charges were filed.

The battle ended outside the home of Roy Green when a friend of Green's, mechanic George Bingel, fired a single shot at the doctor. The bullet struck the barrel of Dr. Spencer's rifle, shattering it. The doctor fired one wild shot from the broken rifle and Green returned the shot.

Doctor Collapses
Dr. Spencer then collapsed in the yard of the home.

Across the street is the 2-story hospital where he has served as the town's only doctor for the last year. Chief of Police Milton Grey said Dr. Spencer had gained immense popularity since arriving here in the midst of last year's Asian flu epidemic. The doctor, his wife and their two young sons made their home at the hospital.

The police chief said Dr. Spencer began his foray at mid-afternoon at a tavern and filling station three miles north of here. He said he arrived there with a pistol and for no apparent reason threatened Angelo Della, the operator, and an attendant.

After departing, the doctor returned 2½ hours later, this time with a rifle, and fired four shots.

Stake Out Hospital
Dalla called authorities. Gray and Sheriff Carl Bertram staked out the hospital here. Dr. Spencer arrived shortly, Grey said, and fired three shots at a group of children across the street. Then he ran into the hospital.

Unaware of the incident, Bingel and his three children arrived at the Green home across the street on a social call.

A few minutes later, Dr. Spencer walked unchallenged across the street from the hospital and approached the Green residence. Green and Bingel challenged him from an upstairs window.

Dr. Spencer threatened them, Grey said, and ordered them to return his wife and children.

Grey said he himself approached the doctor from the rear. As the doctor whirled and aimed his rifle at the police chief, Bingel fired from the upstairs window. The bullet shattered Dr. Spencer's rifle barrel.

The doctor and Green exchanged shots before Dr. Spencer collapsed and was seized.

Jupiter Test Held Complete Success

The tenth Jupiter blasted 1,500 miles across the Atlantic after a fiery start last night. After several hours the defense department announced the test was a complete success.

A Washington-to-Seattle Northwest Airlines plane crashed shortly after takeoff at the Minneapolis-St. Paul airport this morning with 60 persons aboard. A portion of the wreckage burns at the scene near the airport. First reports listed no fatalities, but at least 50 persons were taken to hospitals with undetermined injuries.

56 Escape Death as Burning Plane Plunges Into Minnesota Farmyard

DC-6 Bursts Into Flames as It Takes Off at Minneapolis

Minneapolis —(AP)— Fifty-six persons escaped death today when a Northwest Airlines plane burst into flame moments after takeoff and hurtled like a fireball into a farmyard.

At least 50 required hospital treatment, including Rep. Don Magnuson (D-Wash.). At least one was reported critically injured.

Magnuson was not seriously hurt. He is not related to Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.). Smoke filled the plane as passengers crawled through a hole torn in the fuselage by the breakup of a wing during the big plane's mile-long skid through a cornfield west of Wold Chamberlain field, the Minneapolis-St. Paul airport. It had just taken off, at 3:40 a.m. CDT on a flight to Oregon and Washington.

"It's a miracle any of us got out alive, it seemed so bad," said Mrs. E. C. Wiegand, 48, Sandusky, Ohio, who was traveling with her husband and three children. Flames consumed the DC-6 after passengers were evacuated. Rescue workers found men, women and children standing in the fields, many of them dazed.

Tossed Baby to Mother
One crewman tossed a baby through the fuselage hole into the waiting arms of its mother as flames began gaining headway.

An airlines spokesman said the plane was airborne when it clipped a fence rimming a construction project beyond the northeast-southwest runway.

It bounced three times and slid along the ground for a mile, wrecking a garage, granary and shed on the Jerry Christian farm. The plane

Delay Asked in Assembly Session

United Nations —(AP)— Informed sources said Thursday several U.N. members, including Japan, have suggested that the opening of the fall session of the 81-nation general assembly be delayed 10 days. It is scheduled to start Sept. 16.

Informants said no decision has been taken. The nations suggesting the postponement point to the fact that Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld will not return from his Middle East peace mission for about two weeks. He has been asked to report to the assembly by Sept. 30.

Virginia School Fight Up at Court Hearing

Charlottesville, Va. —(AP)— Judge George M. Coles of corporation court opens a hearing today on a request that he enjoin the Charlottesville School board from assigning pupils — white or Negro — to public schools.

The injunction petition, filed by attorneys representing two white parents, contends that the board's local pupil placement plan is "in violation and open disregard" of state law, which vests all pupil assignment powers with the Virginia Pupil Placement board.

In a related development, the placement board suggested yesterday that both the Charlottesville and Norfolk school boards let it handle the assignment of any Negro children seeking admission to white schools.

Quiz Shifts to Circus World

Labor Activities At Carnivals Also Eyed by Senators

Washington —(AP)— Senate rackets committee probers turn to the circus and the carnival world today in their efforts to show the teamsters union has strewn a trail of violence in labor dealings.

The committee hopes to find out why several circuses closed down after a bitter 1956 dispute with the teamsters.

Most others, including the big Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey circus, discarded the canvas big top to have labor costs.

Officials of some eight circuses and carnivals were summoned to testify before the committee, which has been unfolding a story of wide-spread corruption and terrorism in teamster affairs.

Rumor Heard
The committee received vague testimony several days ago telling of teamsters strong-arm men pulling down the stands at one circus, killing or injuring some persons. However, there was no disclosure where or when such an incident occurred.

The current phase of the hearings, concerned primarily with teamster activities in the St. Louis area, will reach a climax tomorrow when Harold Gibbons, union vice president, is called for questioning. Gibbons holds sway over teamsters affairs in the St. Louis area and his name has been linked with violence charges.

Among other things, Gibbons will be asked about his relations with his 300-pound aide, Robert Baker, who suffered a heart attack yesterday shortly before he was to have given new testimony. Baker, who was stricken in his hotel room, had been summoned for further questioning about alleged payoff to maintain labor peace.

Baker, rushed to a Washington hospital, remained on the critical list today.

More Troops Sent to University of Mexico

Mexico City —(AP)— The government posted more troops around the University of Mexico campus today and threatened to evict students after they rejected President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines' request to end their war on the city bus system.

Student leaders told military officials they would demonstrate without violence and would use other tactics to press their demands for changes in the operation of the bus system.

Quick Passage Indicated for Faubus Plans

Legislature Due To Give Approval At Session Today

Little Rock, Ark. —(AP)— The Arkansas legislature set itself for quick final passage today of Gov. Orval Faubus' last-ditch anti-integration program.

It did so while glancing warily at the U.S. supreme court — meeting at the exact time as the lawmakers.

Final passage of the Faubus plan was a certainty even before the legislature's members gathered Tuesday.

Only one voice rose to protest parts of the key school-closing bill yesterday. The dissenter, Rep. Ray S. Smith, Jr., 32, a Hot Springs attorney, said he favored the bill's objectives but did not want to give some future governor the sweeping power in the measure.

Would Close Schools
This keynote bill called for closing any public school threatened with integration either by physical power or court orders.

Most other bills in the Faubus package aimed at supporting this measure.

The effect would be to close a public school facing forcible integration and lease it to an individual or group for operation as a private school.

The legislature also stamped approval of a series of bills by Arkansas Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, most of which aimed at curbing activities of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Final procedure for the legislation called for each house to pass the other's measures and then send them to the governor for his signature. Passage was a mere formality since the bills were identical in both house and senate.

Charles F. Dineen Dies in Milwaukee

Milwaukee —(AP)— Charles F. Dineen, 79, of nearby Cedarburg, one of Wisconsin's leading dairymen, died Wednesday at a hospital here.

Dineen, who had suffered a heart attack, was secretary and director of the Milwaukee Cooperative Milk Producers association for more than 35 years. He also served as executive secretary of the Milwaukee Dairy Council, and was a charter member of the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture.

A special brigade has been organized by Paris police to stem the wave of killings and sabotage.

Opposes Plea by Little Rock Board

Washington —(AP)— The supreme court opened an extraordinary integration session today—and found the government ranged firmly alongside the NAACP in urging "no delay" in the mingling of races at Little Rock Central High school.

It was the third crucial session on school segregation within half a decade, and specifically at issue was: Should integration at Central High resume forthwith or be postponed 2½ years. That was the narrow issue but the decision could have profound effect on the whole, far-flung desegregation struggle.

The high tribunal in 1954 had outlawed school segregation, and in 1955 ordered it wiped out with "all deliberate speed." Now the big question was: "What is deliberate speed?"

The Little Rock school

board, through its attorneys, fought hard for the 2½-year delay granted by a federal district judge. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People hotly opposed any delay—crying it would be a retreat before the kind of violence that led President Eisenhower to dispatch federal troops to Little Rock last year.

And to the surprise of some — because President Eisenhower spoke only yesterday of favoring a "slower" approach — Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin urged the tribunal to brook no delay. Rankin is the executive branch's official spokesman in the supreme court.

Applies to Little Rock
How his stand squared with that of Eisenhower was a question on which there was no immediate guidance from the White House.

James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, said he saw no difference between the president's views and Rankin's. Asked whether Eisenhower himself sees a difference, Hagerty said he hadn't asked the president. He promised to do so later.

Technically Rankin's no-delay brief, filed a few hours before the court opening, was addressed to the specific situation at Little Rock. But it contained a general do-it-now argument which could apply in any situation where public opposition to desegregation is the basis for efforts to hold off immediate mingling of the races in classrooms.

Here is the nub of that argument as set forth by Rankin. The supreme court itself in its 1955 order for integration with "all deliberate speed" specified that the constitutional rights of some citizens may not be suspended or ignored because of the antagonistic acts of others.

Cite Public Opinion
The most common argument of forces seeking to head off or delay school integration in southern communities is that the state of public opinion would not permit peaceful race mingling at this time.

Eisenhower, in speaking of a slower approach yesterday, added that he believed the justice department brief (the one filed today by Rankin)

Russians Claim Altitude Record In Rockets Test

Washington —(AP)— The Soviet magazine USSR says Russia has achieved a new altitude record of 294 miles for single stage rockets.

The current issue of the monthly magazine also claims that a new type of rocket launched in May, 1957, carried a payload of 4,850 pounds to an altitude of 132 miles, and adds:

"Both instruments and experimental dogs were brought back safely to earth from that height."

"This launching and similar flights made after it marked a new advance in the exploration of the upper atmosphere." U. S. scientists were reluctant to comment on the Russian magazine's claims, but they conceded that if a single-stage rocket actually attained 294 miles it would be a record for such a vehicle.

The magazine published pictures of the single stage device which it said carried 3,350 pounds to such a height when fired last Feb. 21.

Other pictures purported to show rocket instrument payloads—and dogs—safely returned to earth from upper atmosphere flights, models of space ships, and a rocket nose cone "scarred by meteor particles during upper atmospheric trips."

Hold Joint Defense Tests Near Formosa

Exercises Designed to Show U. S. Backing for Nationalists; Shelling of Islands Continues

BY FORREST EDWARDS

Taipei, Formosa —(AP)— Nationalist and U. S. defense exercises today over the coast of Formosa as Red Chinese batteries continued to pound the nationalist-held islands just off the coast of mainland China.

The announcement by the U. S.-Formosa defense command gave no details of the joint air maneuvers. But it obviously was designed to point up American backing for the nationalists in hopes it would deter the Red Chinese from trying an invasion of the offshore islands.

The announcement said both nationalist and American officials were satisfied with the results of the exercise.

As the communist artillery attack on the Quemoy island group pounded through its sixth day, nationalist intelligence sources reported red land and sea movements they interpreted as the prelude to an invasion attempt.

16,000 Rounds

A defense ministry spokesman said the reds battered Quemoy with more than 16,000 shells in the 19 hours before dawn and that sporadic shelling continued through the daylight hours.

The pattern of shelling appeared to have changed since the saturation barrages of Saturday and Sunday.

The spokesman said the red guns were now skipping from area to area throughout the Quemoy complex of islands.

Nationalist authorities declined to speculate on the shifting tactics. But observers felt it could mean the reds think they know the strongest of the Quemoy defenses and are trying to knock them out prior to an invasion attempt.

Return Fire

The nationalists have not made known the intensity of their return fire but it has been mostly defensive shelling against red gun positions. This is the easiest type of fire to spot, and the reds presumably are able to fix the general areas if not the actual dug-in gun positions.

The fact that the reds have expended more than 100,000 rounds of shells added weight to the belief that an invasion attempt is imminent.

Rear Adm. Liu Hsiang-tu, spokesman for the defense ministry, said, "There is no question in our minds that the communists intend to try an invasion sooner or later. The heavy red artillery barrages, plus the intensified buildup of the mainland areas strongly indicate so."

Possible Next Week

The official central news agency quoted intelligence sources as saying a red amphibious assault against the Tan islands between Quemoy and the red mainland would be highly possible next week, when a near-full moon and high tides would aid landing craft operations.

The government news agency, quoting defense sources, gave this picture of the red buildup:

From 30 to 40 warships of the communists' crack east China sea fleet are being massed in Santu Bay, 15 miles north of the Matsu and less than 10 hours run to Quemoy. Two divisions of red marines—which could be the first wave of shock troops spearheading an invasion attempt—now are stationed in the same area and are presumably prepared to board the fleet.

Trainloads of ammunition are being speeded to key artillery areas only 5 to 10 miles across the water from Quemoy.

Proxmire Says Democrats Must Be 'Hungry Party'

By The Associated Press

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) said Wednesday night in Milwaukee that the Democratic party will win this fall in Wisconsin "only if it remains a hungry party that recognizes the odds it faces."

Proxmire said Democrats will capitalize on "their great chance to win this year" if the party recognizes that Republicans still hold six of seven statewide elective offices and Democrats will have to go out and take them away.

He also warned that one of the major obstacles is an apparently unified Wisconsin Republican party.

At Green Bay, Philo Nash of Wisconsin Rapids, campaigning for Democratic lieutenant governor nomination, said Proxmire's victory was born of opposition to Republican agricultural policies.

Grand Jury Ends Inquiry On Gambling

Collects Evidence To Indict 8 in Indiana Syndicate

Indianapolis —(AP)— A federal grand jury ended a 12-day gambling inquiry last night, weary from squeezing enough information from a parade of bigtime gamblers to indict eight men in a $3-million, betting syndicate.

The jury decided it had enough evidence about jangling telephones in a room over a Terre Haute, Ind., restaurant to prove the gambling operation owes federal taxes on $3,263,150 in bets.

The indictments were returned Monday, two days before the end of the long procession of 17 witnesses, including 42 stubborn ones who dodged answers under the fifth amendment.

Don A. Tabbert, the boyish-looking district attorney who celebrated his 30th birthday during the investigation, said the trial of the eight men may bring out proof of a much bigger handle—$10 million in 10 weeks during last fall's football and world series baseball season.

A treasury agents' raid last Nov. 29 closed the third story Terre Haute gambling headquarters.

The accused—aged 41 to 70—were as belligerent as some of the gambler witnesses during the inquiry, cursing and shoving reporters when they surrendered in a group and posted $10,000 bail bonds.

Long-Time Gamblers

Tabbert hopes to have the case ready for trial in U.S. district court in Terre Haute in November. Arraignment was set for Sept. 4. Gamblers Leo Shaffer, 58, and Jules Horwick, 54, started in 1951 to build up a clientele of bettors who could afford to wager as much as $100,000 on a big football Saturday.

Then, congress passed a law requiring a $50 stamp for bookies and levying a 10 percent tax on all bets. Shaffer and Horwick moved to Winnipeg, where they operated until Canadian police shooed them back across the border in 1958.

Set up again in Terre Haute last September, they invited in Edgar M. Wyatt, 60, of Terre Haute, because he had a $50 gambling stamp.

By the time of the raid the headquarters gang included Charles L. (Buck) Sumner, 70, a former Marion county (Indiana) sheriff; gambler Joe Jacobs, 63, of Indianapolis; Philip Share, 54, and Irwin Gordon, 41, from the Las Vegas, Nev., casinos, and James Tamer, 46, Detroit, who was once convicted of bank robbery.

Teenager's Death Hikes Traffic Toll to 497

By The Associated Press

One of four teenagers injured in a "Walworth county highway crash Tuesday night died today, raising the Wisconsin traffic fatality toll for the year to 497, compared with 541 at this time in 1957.

David W. Retzke, Jr., 17, of Chicago, died at a Fort Atkinson hospital today. He was one of four young persons injured Tuesday night when a car roared off the end of a dead end road and crashed into a utility pole.

Mike Pakoczy, 70, of Armstrong Creek, was killed Wednesday night when the auto in which he was a passenger veered and overturned in his home village. Pakoczy was thrown from the vehicle.

Boy, 16, Kidnaps, Holds Famous Atom 4-Year-Old for Ransom Scientist Dies

Police Arrest Youth at Gunpoint After He Gives Up Rifle in Bedroom of Home

Framingham, Mass. —(AP)—

When Weston J. Babineau went to work yesterday as a car polisher at General Motors assembly plant, he thought his 16-year-old stepson, Richard Gray, was still asleep.

So did Mrs. Babineau, the boy's mother, when she left for work at the telephone exchange.

They were wrong. Police said at that moment Richard was holding captive a neighbor's 4-year-old daughter he had kidnaped from her bedroom at 2 a.m., apparently in hope of collecting ransom.

Arrested at gunpoint, the boy was held in $50,000 bail today on charges of kidnapping, breaking and entering in the nighttime with intent to commit a felony, and larceny.

Not Molested

The child, Carole O'Connell, daughter of a liquor store owner, was not sexually molested. The kidnapping occurred on her fourth birthday. She was freed and back home in time for a family birthday cake.

Police Chief Edward T. McCarthy said Gray admitted gagging Carole with a handkerchief, binding her hands and feet with leather shoelaces and carrying her to a hiding place beneath a lilac bush between the two homes, less than 100 yards apart.

McCarthy said the boy held her beneath the bush for five hours until his parents went to work, then took her to a second floor bedroom.

Drew Gun

A note left behind at the O'Connell home said the kidnaper would call in two days and say "where to put the money." The typewritten note, unsigned, also demanded two rifles and ammunition.

Because Gray had been charged two years ago with kidnapping a 13-year-old girl but not molesting her, and because he was released from a truants' correctional school two months ago, police decided early to question him.

Patrolman Richard McGrath said Carole flashed him a warning as he started into the boy's room. McGrath drew a pistol. But Gray, crouched behind a cabinet, had him covered with a rifle.

"I told him, 'Look son, one of us is not going to leave this room alive if you don't put that gun down,'" McGrath related. Gray tossed the weapon on the bed.

108-Year-Old Man Not Old Enough for Party

Manchester, Ky. —(AP)— "Uncle" John Rader will be 108 Sunday. But he won't get a party of his own.

That's because he'll be a guest at a party for one of the "elderly" Clay county citizens—Aunt Josie Sizemore, who will be 112.

About 5,000 residents expect to make "Aunt Josie Sizemore Day" a real thing this year. There'll be speeches by Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler and Democratic candidates for governor.

President Eisenhower may get into the act, too. Sen. John Sherman Cooper has asked him to send a congratulatory message.

Dr. Lawrence Was Cyclotron Inventor, Nobel Prize Winner

Palo Alto, Calif. —(AP)— Dr.

Ernest D. Lawrence, 57, nuclear fission pioneer and Nobel prize winner died last night after surgery at Palo Alto hospital.

Dr. Lawrence had suffered ulcerative colitis for years, his doctor said.

The director Lawrence of the University of California's radiation laboratory had joined other top-level scientists at Geneva in an international conference on scientific detection of nuclear explosions, but was forced by illness to fly home last month.

He entered Peralta hospital in nearby Oakland Aug. 10 after an acute attack of ulcerative colitis and was transferred to Palo Alto for the operation.

Played Key Role

Dr. Lawrence invented the atom-shattering cyclotron, an instrument for converting one element into another, in 1930. His first one cost $25.

He built one of the world's great scientific laboratories around his cyclotrons on the university's Berkeley campus. The instruments played a key role in developing the first nuclear bomb, producing the first self-exploding uranium 235.

From the laboratory, which Lawrence has directed since 1936, came numerous discoveries of the nature of matter, new substances to fight disease and promote agriculture, science and industry.

"On the basis of a dream he had, we went ahead with a $100 million construction program," said Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, Manhattan project director, who presented the medal of merit to Dr. Lawrence in 1946.

The parents of the Siamese twins were identified publicly for the first time as Reginald Thackeray, 39, a bank manager, and his wife, Kathleen.

Widen Investigation Into TV Quiz Shows; 12 Face Questioning

Former Contestant Says Winner Had Notebook With Answers

New York —(AP)— The district attorney's office arranged to question at least a dozen more persons today in a widening probe of television quiz shows, triggered by the investigation of the "Dotto" program.

David S. Worgan, executive assistant to Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan, said yesterday that three other quiz shows were under scrutiny for possible irregularities, but he did not name them.

Worgan said 10 persons thus far have been quizzed in connection with the "Dotto" inquiry, touched off by an irate contestant's complaint.

Concerning those persons already appearing at Hogan's office, Worgan said: "I've no idea of the validity of what they say, whether it constitutes a crime, or they are just disappointed contestants."

The complainant who initiated the "Dotto" probe is Edward Hilgemeier, Jr., a part-time butler, bit actor and contestant on quiz shows.

Claims Pay-off

Officials said Hilgemeier, a stand-by contestant on "Dotto", told them he was paid off when he claimed to program heads that a woman was being given the quiz answers in advance. Hilgemeier then complained to the federal communications commission.

Hilgemeier was quoted by the New York Daily News and New York Mirror as saying he was paid $1,500 as a result of his complaint to program officials.

He also was quoted as saying that a defeated woman contestant on the show received $4,000 after he informed her that her opponent had been supplied advance answers to questions.

Hilgemeier's story, as published by the newspapers, was as follows:

While waiting backstage he noticed a previous winner, a woman who was to make another appearance, writing in a notebook. When the woman was called to the stage she left the notebook on a table and it flipped open to the page on which she had been writing.

Hilgemeier glanced at the writing and then, as the show went on the air, he was surprised to learn that questions being asked her were contained in the notebook along with the correct answers.

Hilgemeier ripped the material out of the notebook and later informed the defeated contestant, another woman, of what he had learned.

Didn't Get Help

Meanwhile, three noted winners on three other quiz shows said they had received no help of any kind whatsoever. They were Charles Van Doren, Teddy Nadler and Hank Bloomgarden.

"Dotto" was dropped on Aug. 15 as a daytime show on the Columbia Broadcasting System network, and as a nighttime show via the National communications commission.

Colgate - Palmolive Co., sponsor of the show on both networks, issued a statement yesterday in which it said "Dotto" was "furnished to Colgate by an independent producer as a complete package."

The statement said Colgate "has always insisted and will continue to insist on the complete integrity of the television shows which it sponsors," adding:

In St. Louis yesterday, the Globe-Democrat said James O. Odell, who served a term in city jail there on worthless check charges, reported he was enabled to win $2,000 on the "Dotto" show by being supplied answers in advance.

Man Misses Auction, But Guards Give Him Plenty of Attention

Livermore, Calif. —(AP)—

Contractor Herbert I. Newman, hoping to pick up some bargains at a government auction of surplus equipment, saw a landing strip and set his light plane down there.

As he and his three children stepped out they faced a circle of armed guards.

They had landed on the private and restricted strip of the Atomic Energy commission's radiation laboratory.

It took three hours and an order from Washington to win his release.

By that time the auction had ended.

Teachers' Union
Ousts White Local
For Segregation

Milwaukee — Delegates to the American Federation of Teachers, by voice vote, last night ousted the white teachers union local of Chattanooga, Tenn., for failing to integrate with Negro teachers.

Removal of the white local from membership in the AFT was voted after three hours of debate at the federation's 42nd annual convention. The Negro local in Chattanooga retained its charter.

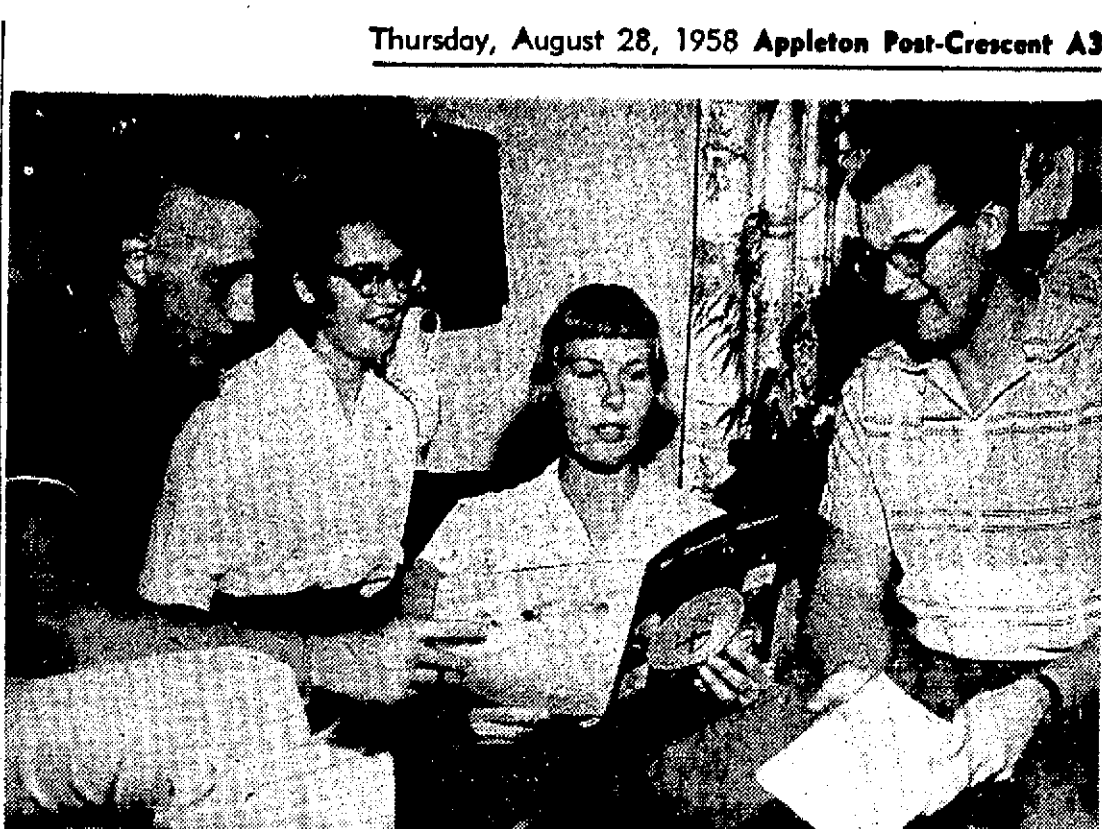

The national executive council recommended that the white teachers' members of Local 246 be given permission to appeal the decision at the current convention.

Supporters of Local 246 said their unit removed a discrimination section from its constitution and was not violating the nation's group's constitution, which forbids chartering locals which define, recognize or practice segregation.

Opponents said the local still was discriminating although the section had been removed from its constitution.

At the AFT's 1956 national convention, segregated locals were notified to integrate by Dec. 31, 1957, or lose their charters. Five southern locals immediately withdrew.

The Candidates on Urban Problems

The candidates for governor, Republican Vernon Thomson and Democrat Gaylord Nelson, recently replied to a League of Women Voters questionnaire which included, among other things, a question on their views on how to solve the problems facing the state's urban areas. Their answers reveal a startling difference in approach to these problems.

The incumbent, Gov. Thomson, began his answer by noting that "constitutional changes authorizing alternate types of (local) government have repeatedly been rejected." While the governor does not say so outright he sounds as if he has given up all hope of changing the Constitution to provide more modern and efficient local government in Wisconsin — this despite the fact that a number of the constitutional provisions for municipal and especially county government are admitted by just about everybody to be obsolete. The rest of the governor's answer talks vaguely about "cooperative efforts, planning and zoning already authorized" as being the best way to improve our local governments.

Sen. Nelson takes a very different view. The Constitution, he says, should be changed. Counties must be permitted and encouraged to "equalize their board representation to reflect urban trends" and "must strengthen their form of government." The latter point is as vague as Thomson's but the first point is specific and is in line with the thinking of practically all students of modern county government. This newspaper, among others, has called many times for a change in the method of representation on county boards; we consider this one of the most serious challenges facing Wisconsin today in the field of local government.

Nelson would solve this problem by permitting each county to choose from among several types of county government. In addition he recommends a study of the possibility of "forming regional county governments in metropolitan areas of 500,000 or more." This would apply only to the Milwaukee area and it is too bad Nelson put this limitation on it as Milwaukee is not the only part of the state where larger county units should be considered. Nelson also recommends increased county participation in the assessment of property, and the appointment of a county officer to coordinate county fiscal duties.

Gov. Thomson's approach to this most vital problem of how to modernize municipal and county governments in Wisconsin is, in our opinion, pure mossbackism. Here is the tired old response that "nothing has been done, therefore little or nothing can be done." His point that constitutional changes have been rejected in the past means little; he should know that such attempts as have been made have been very feeble ones, without the backing of important legislative leadership or of any state administration. Only in the last few years has the legislature even recognized the existence of this problem, resulting in the first serious studies that have been made of it by legislative committees. To say ahead of time — before these committees have made their reports to the legislature — that no constitutional changes can be contemplated is defeatism.

Sen. Nelson, on the other hand, approaches these problems with clarity and forthrightness. His implied promise to support constitutional changes to make county government more representative, and to push for some reorganization of local government to more adequately serve urban areas, is heartening.

We have felt for quite a while that the Republicans have been too slow to recognize the new problems that face the state because of the shift in population from the rural to urban areas, and have wondered why the Democrats have not taken more advantage of this chink in the Republicans' armor. If Sen. Nelson and his cohorts continue to show imagination and a determination to accomplish something in this field they may pick up the votes of quite a few thinking urban people who have traditionally voted Republican.

Jules Verne in the Modern World

The trips of our two nuclear-powered submarines under the polar ice of the North Pole is a feat which takes the breath away even in this century of space-men, rockets and tremendous medical and scientific advances. The fact that strikes mankind is that the trips depended, not merely on correct instruments and calculations or even on the daring imagination of those who planned the excursions; the real moving force behind the trips was the courage, the trust and the determination to succeed of the men aboard the subs.

We know today of course that Henry Hudson would not have found a Northwest Passage even if his crew had not mutinied. Yet the terror and disintegration of his men, or possibly the lack of leadership in Hudson, which led the crew to place him adrift in a lifeboat in that icy wilderness will go down in history as a prime example of cowardice and failure.

But the men on the Nautilus and the Nautilus were of the caliber of those who sailed the first shaky ships to these shores: the men who left the seaboard for the Kentucky forests; the ones who blazed the mountain trails and led the wagon trains and built poor sod huts on the plains and in the woods and along the fast flowing streams. Of course these character strengths are not exclusively American. And yet that dogged searching, that curiosity which only grows in the face of danger, that firmness to carry out a mission in spite of the odds remain part of the reason why this country was discovered, developed and progressed.

The crews of the nuclear submarines have served even a greater purpose than finding that Northwest Passage, or making the Russians look backward, or raising our military morale. They have reminded us, in the middle of the search for security or the good life or the knuckling under to "lives of quiet desperation" that faith and a strong will and boundless imagination are still the characteristics which motivate Americans in all great fields of endeavor.

A Common Problem

America's first attempt to "shoot the moon" ended in a shattering blast short of the intended target but there will be other attempts, possibly other failures and, in the end, success.

The problems involved in scientific adventures such as this ordinarily are too complex for average comprehension. Yet this moon shot encompasses one difficulty which every man who has ever fired a shotgun at a bird on the wing can fully understand.

In effect, science has set up for itself the most monumental task of "pass shooting" ever contrived by man.

Consider the figures involved. The moon is at least 220,000 miles out in space. Scientific marksmen must fire at an empty space approximately 137,000 miles and 2½ days ahead of the moon's course.

A Good Rule on Gifts for Public Officials

Sen. Proxmire has refused to accept the gift of a box of aluminum foil and a season pass to a race track from Sen. John Hobbittzell, a Republican from West Virginia.

It seems from the news story that there would have been no publicity on this matter if Sen. Hobbittzell had not informed the press that Proxmire had returned the foil but kept the pass. Asked about that, Sen. Proxmire quickly explained that he had returned the foil just as he returns all gifts of value, but that he had merely ordered the pass destroyed. He thought that would be less embarrassing to Sen. Hobbittzell than returning it.

This may appear to most people as a small thing. The gifts were rather trifling and we are sure that most members of Congress would find it easier to keep than to return them even though they may have had no use for either gift.

However in the recent history of Washington the giving and receiving of gifts have been important. Men of intelligence, holding high offices, have looked ridiculous as they tried to explain that they thought it all right to receive a 10-pound ham but perhaps not a 35-pound turkey or a case of champagne. Most public officials know that accepting a coat of mink or vicuna is indefensible and of course none will consider a deep freeze under any circumstances. But the question remains, where shall one draw the line?

Sen. Proxmire has, apparently, adopted the rule that works so well for alcoholics — never take the first one. It is a good rule and we commend it to all members of Congress and to such highly placed officials as Sherman Adams.

'Boys, Please—Are You Listening to Me?'

Citation Demanded in Goldfine Investigation

From the Tampa Tribune

For reasons good and abundant, the house of representatives has voted 369 to 8 to cite Bernard Goldfine for contempt of congress and send his case to the courts for judgment. In both politics and congressional policy, the house had no other choice.

As practical politicians, most members of the house know that the name Goldfine in 1958 has become synonymous in the public mind with improper influence. Goldfine scattered gifts widely among Washington's bureau racy and their value, to cite a famous delineation of property, went far beyond a 12-pound ham. His gifts to Sherman Adams, first assistant to the president, brought the most sensational scandal in Washington since the Truman deep-freezes. A vote against the contempt citation would look like a vote for Goldfine himself. It would be like voting against virtue.

Prison Aims to Offer Something Constructive

John C. Burke, Warden, Wisconsin State Prison.

What the prison experience will mean to a given inmate depends largely upon the nature of his contacts with all of the individuals he identifies with it. The general attitudes he develops toward the institution and its personnel will, to a large extent, determine the degree to which he will be receptive to the efforts of those personnel more specifically associated with the more formalized rehabilitative program. Men in prison can be shorn of all semblance of human dignity and become embittered to a degree that they leave the institution hostile toward society and especially toward the representatives of authority in society. Their problems and, therefore, the problems that they can be to a community, can be multiplied and magnified many fold. It is our objective not to degrade and embitter men insofar as we can avoid it, but rather, as far as possible, to offer something constructive.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

It's Rockefeller vs. Harriman for Governor of New York. The new tradition in American politics — from Governors to Governor.

Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung appear to have a deal. Russia will try to take outer space while red China attempts to take Ike's mind off his vacation.

The Supreme Court calls an emergency session on Little Rock. Chief Justice Warren: "What do we do now?" Justice Douglas: "What any good lawyer does. Appeal!"

The A-sub Nautilus and Admiral Rickover get a big New York welcome. The sub came under the North Pole — and the Rick over the dead bodies of Navy brass.

The Republican committee meets in Chicago. Question: "What have the Democrats got that we haven't got?" Answer: "A couple of guys whom Sherman Adams never phoned."

If pressed, the man who says we can't all be perfect usually will concede that he's the only one he knows.

Ike takes the 92-foot vessel, "Barbara Anne," on vacation. The White House insists this is no yacht, but a plain Republican row-boat — before taxes.

against virtue, not with the congressional elections as close as the breath of fall.

In policy, the citation was demanded when Goldfine refused to answer 22 questions put to him by a house committee looking into his complex financial affairs. Even though Goldfine contended the questions went beyond proper bounds and were in effect none of congress' business, the committee considered the questions pertinent and, accordingly, asked the house to bring charges. The house could hardly set a precedent for allowing a witness to determine when he will speak and when he will remain silent.

The issue, then, is properly one for the courts to decide. It may be that Goldfine will successfully defend himself. The committee's case has been complicated by the folly of an investigator who "bugged" Goldfine's hotel room with a secret listening device; thus, the committee is vulnerable under the doctrine that a prosecutor shouldn't come to court with "unclean hands." At any rate, the criminal proceedings were required if congress is to maintain respect for and control of its own investigations.

Two Runaways in One Afternoon

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Aug. 30, 1879.

On Thursday, about 3 o'clock, a team belonging to Mr. Prunty, of Ellington, ran up College avenue, creating a ripple of excitement, but fortunately hurting no one seriously. Mr. P., we believe, received a slight sprain in the hip. Cause was a broken hammer-strap that let the whiffletrees down on the steeds' heels.

On the same afternoon, a span of horses of Mr. Timothy Ryan of Centre took flight on Appleton street, whirled and jumped upon the iron and wood fence of Hercules school grounds, throwing out and severely injuring Mrs. Ryan and demolishing the wagon, harness and fence. One of the horses also received a severe cut on the flank.

The Baptist minister at Hortonville, whose name is Mitchell, on Wednesday sustained quite a serious injury by being thrown from a load of lumber.

Knowles Important Leader of His Party

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—In any unbiased estimate, Lt. Gov. Warren P. Knowles of New Richmond, the only Republican state office incumbent who faces rivals in the primary election, should be favored to win the third nomination he seeks on Sept. 9.

The carefully planned intensity of the campaign for Knowles by the Republican state organization which endorsed him in its convention, and Knowles' spirited activities on his own behalf, cannot be interpreted as showing any doubt about his position as the favorite.

The purpose, rather, is to win for him a renomination by a big and decisive margin. Such a victory would reduce somewhat the effect of his indifferent showing in the special senatorial primary last August, deter opposition in future primaries, and build him as a potential candidate for higher place. Of all the other Republican state ticket office-holders, for example, Knowles surely has superior claims in terms of experience and performance to a future nomination for the governorship—after Vernon Thomson.

THE PROBLEM

The primary campaign is far along and there has been virtually no evidence of state-wide campaigning by Senator Leo O'Brien of Green Bay and George M. Smith of Milwaukee, the two Knowles challengers for the No. 2 state GOP ticket position.

Quite obviously they are willing to gamble on the chance that the Republican electorate is prepared to unseat Knowles. There can be no other explanation for their filing and their nearly total absence of effort.

Nor do the Knowles campaigners altogether discount such a possibility — if only in deference to the hallowed rule that politicians should never take anything for granted and never underestimate the opposition.

They remember that once before while the party organization was wool-gathering Mr. Smith slipped onto the Republican ticket, in 1948, and survived for three terms. They also fret about the possibility of electoral confusion by the number of "Smiths" on the primary president to the boiling point. The overwhelming majority of 170,000,000 Americans share his anger. Anyone giving credence to this poison of heart and spirit, calculated to beget premonitions and doubt, is a candidate for the booby-hatch and overripe for it.

ballot. There will be Mrs. Dena Smith, the acting state treasurer who is running for an elective term and is unopposed for nomination and has the blessings of the party machine. There is also Mrs. Eleanor Smith, widow of the former first district congressman, who is enthusiastically backed by the party organization in that big southern Wisconsin territory. The rank and file voter will be expected to remember, if he wants to back up the party's endorsed favorites that there are two desirable Smiths and one who is not supposed to win.

THE RECORD

Measured wholly on the basis of the record, the Republicans of Wisconsin would be ungrateful indeed if they failed to ratify the services of Lt. Gov. Knowles in the primary.

The story of the Wisconsin state government for the last 20 years is one of Republican devising and no man has participated in it over a longer period and more influentially than Knowles.

For many of the crucial years of the extended Republican regime he was the GOP majority captain in the legislative caucus, as the chosen floor leader of the state senate Republicans. For the last four years he has been presiding officer in the senate, and although less conspicuous in a political capacity, he was no less influential.

No single governor who has served during the last two decades has had such an impact upon the party record, whatever the verdict upon its worth, than has Knowles who served under Heil, Goodland, Rennebohm, Kohlert and Thomson. Each of them would testify to his assistance in their own careers, if asked. By any reasonable definition, Lt. Gov. Knowles has been one of the important leaders of his party.

No Remedy for No Enforcement Of Truck Speeds

From the New Richmond News

John Wyngaard, Madison political columnist of some note in some circles, observes that the state makes no effort to enforce truck speed law. And we guess yuh gotta admit John has a point there. But the public relations boys for the trucking industry will come up with some hair-breadth story of truck driver helping some stranded motorist, or something, and all will be forgiven — the same old too fast speeds will continue.

There is no remedy, we're entwined by government and slowly being strangled tho at least it must be peaceful enough, or painless, that the long-suffering public doesn't rise up and throw them that's in, out!

Letter Defends Teamster Attempt To Unionize New York Police Force

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY

New York — Usually I do not read an unsigned letter or one that does not bear a good address.

A person who is so much of a coward that he dares not put his name to a letter is unworthy of any attention.

Such a letter obviously comes from a Sokolsky policeman in New York City. The big, uniformed cop wrote protesting against my strictures about policemen joining the Teamsters union. He lists quite a few policeman's grievances, such as the fact that he pays for his gun, his uniforms, his nightstick and goes into hock to do so. These, of course, are a policeman's tools and in modern history, tools are provided by the employer.

This anonymous cop makes the point that policemen already have a union called the Police Benevolent Association, which is recognized. This man objects to the P. B. A. because it is a "company union." The truth of the matter is that a benevolent association ought not to have the characteristics of a trade union, which is a bargaining agency.

The police ought to be given their rights by law, not by bargaining, because they exist to maintain law and order and this is not a subject over which there can be any bargaining. On the other hand, police work should be made so attractive that a high type of young man enters this service, in any part of the country, in the expectation of a career.

New York Commissioner

The present police commissioner of New York City, Stephen Kennedy, came up from the uniformed ranks. He is a college and law school graduate and an alumnus of the FBI National academy. He worked his way up step by step, suffering all the hardships of which this anonymous policeman complains.

This anonymous policeman objects to what he calls a "kangaroo court" in New York's Police department. Presumably when a policeman in this city or elsewhere gets into trouble, he does not have a fair trial, because what is at issue is that to exonerate the policeman is to question the judgment and integrity of those over him. The same problem arises in the army, navy and in all uniformed services. Men are not always honest in their judgments and many injustices have only been corrected after the press has intervened with a fair and truthful account and saved a man from martinets or from service politicians and prejudices.

The police force in no city of the United States should be unionized. Certainly no police force should have any connection with a union about which domination either by racketeers or communists or both has been established beyond doubt. For the police of any city to be part of Jimmy Hoffa's Teamsters union is a peril to the welfare of the city and even to the country.

Should be Attractive

On the other hand, the police service should be made so attractive that men will be happy to join it. Of course, the pay is a factor that must always be considered and fairness of promotions and equality of opportunity within the service, but also the quarters cannot be ignored. Police stations built when Gen. Grant was president, dusty, ill-kempt buildings, are not suitable places for men to spend their working hours. They should have proper shower and recreation rooms and the municipality should indicate that it cares enough for its protectors and defenders to give them a decent plant to work in.

Furthermore—and now I am reaching for the moon—the police need to be protected from powerful politicians who demand special favors and get them, and from magistrates and judges who seek and get front page notice in newspapers by being unpleasant to a policeman doing his duty.

One of the saddest jobs that a policeman faces in a big city is the special privilege guy who gets a fancy automobile license or who puts a state or municipal department plate on his car, even a siren or red front lights. Such cars are driven by women as well as by their owners, are parked where they should not be, and are generally a hazard. They are usually a reward for political contributions and are a nuisance to the police. In a well run city, each ostentatious discrimination should not be tolerated. One fellow had his low license plate done in a special style when he took his car to Europe.

The conference began Sunday evening with a sermon by the Rev. A. Klug, Wausau, steward and mission counselor.

An innovation at this conference was the presentation of a doctrinal discussion by the Rev. G. E. Kohn, Merrill, on, "Sin," in its varied meanings as used in the Bible.

A report of the recent synodical convention at Cleveland, Ohio, and district convention at Stevens Point, was given by the Rev. Mr. Goetz, Neokosa, district president.

Gasoline Thief Gets Jail Term, Probation

Arrested After Farmer Substituted Water For Fuel; Implicates Juveniles in Action

Waupaca—Robert Fox, 18, 54 Thirteenth street, Clintonville, one of the teenagers who obtained water Monday when they thought they were stealing gasoline from a farmer, was sentenced Wednesday morning to 30 days in the county jail to be followed by a year's probation.

He appeared before Justice of the Peace George Whalen to plead guilty of criminal trespass and theft of and procuring beer for a minor.

He was sentenced to 30 days for procuring beer and two 90 day terms were stayed in favor of a year's probation on the trespass and theft charges.

Fox was arrested after Kenneth Lyons, town of Matieson farmer, filled his gasoline pump with water to thwart thefts from it. He had been victimized for several weeks. Fox's car stalled when the water worked into the motor.

Admitted Theft
Undersheriff Bernard Pipkorn said today Fox admitted the Monday theft and a theft on Aug. 8. He implicated one juvenile in the Aug. 8 theft and five in the Monday excursion.

Pipkorn said he is investigating a gang of 13 to 14 teenagers who appear to have been active in stealing gasoline from Lyons.

Fox also admitted buying a case of beer in Marion, Aug. 18, for himself and a 17-year-old Clintonville boy. He also implicated another juvenile, now in the armed services, in a break-in at the Moose club west of Clintonville early this year.

Pipkorn said his investigation of the teenage gang is continuing and that the juveniles will be handled by juvenile authorities.

Government Fights Integration Delay

would not diverge greatly from his own views.

But there was this further point: Eisenhower was discussing integration in generalities. The justice department brief applies to a particular situation in one particular place. Thus, in the view of some observers, there still was a possibility that no fundamental difference existed.

All Justices Present
Only four other times in the last 38 years has the supreme court interrupted its summer vacation for a special term. And what it decides will provide a measure of guidance for the future course of integration over the nation.

A bell summoned the justices to a conference — all nine reportedly were present — at 10 a.m. that was two hours in advance of the formal session in the austere, marble-columned court chamber.

In corridors outside, perhaps 300 people, about half of them Negroes, lined up in hope of claiming spectator seats.

The government brief was the last to come in — just under the wire. It went down the line with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The two parties the NAACP wants knocked down are: The order by the U. S. district court in Little Rock permitting a 24-year delay in integration; and

A ruling by the circuit court of appeals in St. Louis staying its order which would void the 24 year delay. The stay by the circuit court was granted pending a decision by the supreme tribunal.

The government's brief said the original knocking out of the circuit court decision out the 24 year delay was clearly correct.

The government brief, filed in response to an invitation from the justice department to take part in the case, said the high court has full power to grant the relief asked by the NAACP. It said further that such relief should be granted.

Decision Urged
Stressing that the only purpose of the stay granted by the court of appeals was to give the high court an opportunity to consider the ruling, the government urged that the whole Little Rock litigation be decided in one bundle.

The government brief said there was no likelihood that an appeal by the Little Rock school board from the court of appeals basic ruling would be successful. It said the supreme court could decide this issue along with the petition to strike down the legal stays.

But if the court should not decide to consider the Little Rock case on its full legal merits, the government asked the court to require the school board to file its appeal immediately instead of waiting for 30 days as allowed by the court of appeals.

The government argued that the order by District Judge Harry J. Lemley granting the 24-year stay "rested upon two basic misconceptions."

The brief said Lemley disregarded basic principles laid down by the supreme court for determining when a delay in carrying out school desegregation may be allowed.

The brief said the supreme court in its May, 1955, decision calling for the end of school segregation "with all deliberate speed" specified that constitutional rights of some citizens may not be suspended or ignored because of antagonistic acts of others.

"If constitutional rights could be so easily negated they would amount to little," the brief said.

Claim Rejected
"Here, it should be noted, there is not the slightest suggestion that the colored children (those who entered Central High school) did anything to incite violence or disorderly conduct. Because they were colored, their mere presence in the school led others to engage in conduct which the district court thought to be sufficient justification for suspending the children's constitutional rights — rights which can be enforced only while they are of school age, so that any 'suspension' of their rights is actually a permanent and irretrievable deprivation."

The brief said the supreme court itself has rejected the claim that a restriction upon the rights of Negroes might be justified as a means of avoiding racial disturbance. The government said the primary responsibility for maintaining order in Little Rock and taking all other necessary measures to permit carrying out court orders "rests upon the state and its officials."

The government's argument went before the high court in an extraordinary setting — one of its rare special terms called to pass on issues of transcendent importance or pressing immediacy. The time pressure stems from the fact that the Little Rock High school, where Negro students attended last year under guard of federal troops, opens Sept. 8.

The government brief said there was no likelihood that an appeal by the Little Rock school board from the court of appeals basic ruling would be came to rest only 30 feet from the Christian house, about four blocks from the big metropolitan baseball stadium on Minneapolis southern outskirts.

56 Escape as Plane Plunges While Afire

Safety belts, strapping passengers to their seats, saved many from serious injury from the impact. The plane landed on its left side, making it impossible to open the door there. But the crew directed passengers through the fuselage hole, helping mothers with their children.

Among the hospitalized were the four crew members, Capt. James Wilkinson, Seattle Pilot; V. J. McGinnis, Seattle, co-pilot; A. R. Mielke, Minneapolis, engineer, and Marge Gallagher, Seattle, stewardess.

Most of the injured were taken to Northwestern hospital here. Others were brought to Ancker hospital in St. Paul and to Veterans hospital near the field.

Dr. Roger W. Blaisdell, 52, cut, strong statement on the part of the United States that any attack on the islands (Guam and Matsuo) is an attack on our mutual security pact would do more than anything else to maintain peace.

"The communists would then no longer dare to carry out further aggression."

Wellesville, N. Y., on a vacation to Alaska, helped tend to injuries of his fellow passengers.

"There was a lot of screaming," he said. "A hole broke open in the plane and I got out that way. It's lucky the hole was there. The plane was full with smoke and it started choking up in there."

Cut slightly himself, Blaisdell helped bandage other passengers and put a splint on a man with a broken leg.

Wing Torn off
The wing tore off just as the plane was passing over Twenty-fourth avenue, in a sparsely settled area a mile from the big commercial-military airbase.

"It must have been losing gasoline as it skidded across the cornfield," said Vincent Christian, who lives near the Jerry Christian farm. "It looked like a slide of fire."

Mrs. Wesley Gillies, 52, LaVonia, Mich., was sitting near an emergency door when "it happened so fast I didn't know what was going on."

She jumped through an opening "and the co-pilot caught me." Mrs. Gillies said she thought the plane was still in the air when it actually was tumbling along the ground.

The airfield's observation tower said there was a light ground fog at the time, with visibility three miles.

The flight had originated in Washington with stops at Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit and Milwaukee.

The crashing plane demolished a 1958 model car in Christian's garage, a few hours before the farmer was to leave on a fishing trip.

Despite the hazard and smoke, some of the passengers stopped to grab their luggage before leaving the plane.

Ike, Nixon Pledge Help

Promise Aid to GOP
In Congressional Election Campaigns

Chicago—President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon gave pep talks to the Republican National committee yesterday and both pledged their help to bring victory to the party in the congressional elections.

The president and Nixon spoke by telephone to the committee as it wound up a 2-day session mapping campaign plans for congressional elections.

The president said he expects to "speak out on several subjects" during the fall campaign. He appealed for "deeply and fiercely concerned" GOP workers to carry on the fight for victory Nov. 4.

After Eisenhower's telephone remarks from Washington to the party leaders over a loud speaker, Nixon, telephoning from Lewisburg, W. Va., spoke to National Chairman Meade Alcorn, who relayed the vice president's remarks to the committee members.

"Dick Nixon asks me to tell you he regards the 1958 elections as vital, and that we must get off the defensive and on the offensive," Alcorn said. "He pledges to you and to our party every resource and talent to help us win this fall."

He reminded the committee to solicit support of the independent voter and "the discerning Democrat."

Sewage Lift Station May be Ready by July 1

A $60,000 sewage lift station to serve some 305 acres at the northwest corner of the city probably will be ordered, constructed and complete by July 1.

The possibilities improved greatly after a conference between the board of public works, Thomas Orbison, Jr., consulting engineer, and Kenneth Hooyman, owner of property on which the station likely will be placed.

Hooyman said he's willing to take $2,000 an acre for about nine acres on the north-west corner of the elementary school site on N. Mason street is complete by July 1. Otherwise, it's $2,500 an acre. There was some talk of constructing the lift station itself in such a way that conversion later to a comfort station would be possible.

This was the only reference to the likelihood that the nine acres also would serve as a neighborhood park, an action sought by the park board. Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski, Orbison and Hooyman are to confer sometime before the next board meeting, Sept. 16, to tie down loose ends.

These loose ends include:

1. What kind of assurance can the city get that Hooyman will seek annexation and platting of his lands between the lift station site and N. Mason?

2. Will the platting provide a straight line westward for W. Lindbergh street, the street in which a pressure line from the lift station to existing gravity sewers must be placed?

3. Will the city give half the street right-of-way along the north side of the school site for extension westward of W. Marquette street?

Hooyman said he would be willing to take $500 down this year, $4,500 next year and the rest at $5,000 a year and 4 per cent interest. The concession from his original offer was made, he said, in light of a tight money situation inside the city government this year.

There may be enough money to finance construction in the $300,000 storm and sanitary sewer bond issue of earlier this year, Duszynski said. If not, there is some money to provide a start and more could be obtained in future sewer bond issues, he added.

Unbiased Mother Seeks 'Proper' Mate for Idealized Daughter

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our beautiful and brilliant daughter, 23, is thinking seriously of throwing her life away on a very average fellow. It's breaking my heart.

We have nothing against the boy but he's not in our Ann Landers daughter's class. She's had all the advantages of fine upbringing and he has had none. At present he does accounting in a small office and is attending law school at night. He has no personality, and rarely says two words to us. I doubt that he owns a suit of clothes.

The thing that worries me most is that his parents are separated and his dad drifts around the country, showing up only when he needs something. I keep reminding my daughter of the old saying

"The apple doesn't fall far from the tree" but it hasn't helped her to see the light. Maybe a word from you will open her eyes. — DISAPPOINTED MOTHER

Put your nose back in joint, Mother. To borrow an old phrase from Amos and Andy, "Many an offspring springs higher than the offspring it sprang off of."

If the boy is working during the day and going to law school at night he's got good stuff. This is more important than whether or not he owns a suit of clothes. He should be congratulated for rising above his environment and you should be proud that your daughter has the maturity to select such a boy.

DEAR ANN: My husband and I have been married for 16 years. At first he was just a social drinker. I thought little of it until he began to get socially cockeyed four nights a week. His absentee record at the plant got so bad he was demoted.

For the last three years he has averaged five cases of beer and three bottles of whiskey a week. I have visited seven clergymen of three faiths, five medical doctors, three social workers, two psychiatrists and a judge. They haven't been able to help me get my husband to stop drinking. Can you give me some advice? — IRMA

Do you really want advice, or are you just collecting opinions? From the the rounds you've made you surely must have had much good advice poured into your ear.

If you wish to add me to the distinguished list, I humbly suggest that you try to get him to attend an A.A.

Miss Barbara Mann, 18, of Elk Horn, will represent Wisconsin in the "Miss Teen Age America" contest sponsored by the American Legion at Atlanta, Ga., this weekend. She is a student model in Milwaukee.

meeting. He will meet many people at A.A. who also considered themselves social drinkers.

I know from the postmark on your letter that there is no A.A. chapter in your town. The nearest one is in Houston. It will be well worth the trip. Good luck.

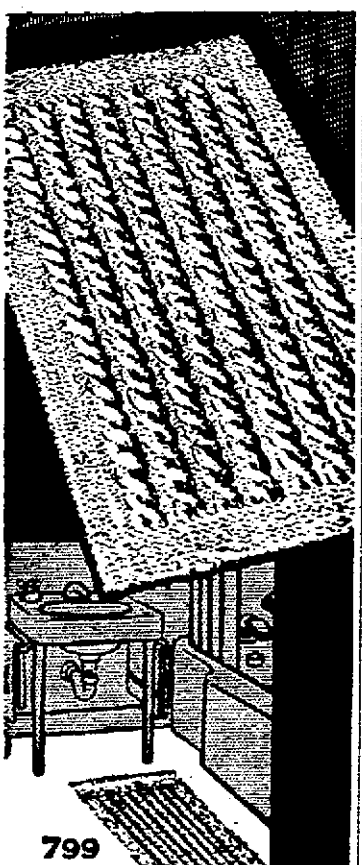

DEAR ANN: My husband is a good-natured shnook who is in the furniture and appliance business. Several of our friends and relatives have asked him to get things wholesale. He always obliges with a smile.

Two girls I play cards with complained last week that the appliances they got through my husband didn't work. I told them to send the merchandise back to the factory. They said it was "too much trouble" and brought the appliances to our home and asked my husband to exchange them. He said he'd be happy to.

The girls left without so much as a "thank you." I'm very burned up and would like to tell them off. My husband gets nothing out of these wholesale transactions but a lot of static. Shall I tell these dames off and put an end to it? — MOLLY

Why tell them off? If your husband enjoys being a "good-natured shnook" let him. Simply refuse to be the middle-man in these matters. Tell your girl friends to contact your husband directly. Don't take orders, relay messages or adjust complaints.

Tibbs began his photographic career at Yale, New Haven, Conn., which he received his bachelor's degree in anthropology and studied basic design. As an undergraduate, he was president of the campus photography society. His work has been displayed at Sterling Memorial library at Yale.

Minimizes Pain

Experimental Decompression Suit Speeds Up Childbirth

BY ADRIAN S. HAGEN

Johannesburg, South Africa

—A plastic decompression suit is being used at Witwatersrand university to speed up labor and minimize the pain of childbirth.

Research workers say decompression lessens pain and benefits the child because of shortened labor and less strain.

Experiments in this direction began when researchers observed the effects of a curare-like drug on the mother's abdomen. Later experiments showed that reduction of atmospheric pressure would facilitate labor. By the end of 1955, these scientists managed to construct a small decompression chamber to cover the front of the abdomen.

The doctors found this reduced the number of contractions required in the first stage of childbirth. In the decompression suit, the expectant mother operates a valve which activates a pump and reduces the atmospheric pressure on her abdomen.

Scientists explained that the abdomen enlarges under decompression. This enlargement relieves muscular pressure on the spine and abdomen, thus minimizing pain.

Perfected Last Year

The researchers found most women are comfortable when pressure is reduced about one pound per square inch below atmospheric pressure. Two pounds below, they say, and the mother feels slightly uncomfortable.

Normal atmospheric pressure, at sea level, is 14.7 pounds per square inch.

The suit, made of chemically treated nylon, was perfected last year. The patient, who uses the suit only during the first stage of childbirth, is seated in a comfortable chair and reduces air pressure when the first pains are felt.

An analysis of cases where the pressure suit was used showed most required less than five hours for the first stage of labor.

In some cases the first stage lasted eight hours and in some even ten hours, but there was every indication that these would have been prolonged first stages, taking upward of 30 hours or more in ordinary circumstances.

Teamsters Seek Election Among Utschig Workers

Teamsters Local 563 announced today it is petitioning the Wisconsin employment relations board for an election among Utschig Dairy employees.

Richard Hinz, Teamsters president, said the union has a majority of a 7-member employee unit which excludes a supervisor and clerical worker.

Jerome Fischer, who is in charge of the dairy plant for Mrs. Leonard Utschig, the owner, said Hinz's statement was untrue but declined to elaborate.

Hinz said he is hopeful of an election within 30 days.

The dairy is at 2003 N. Meade street.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

"You certainly pulled a bloomer on that defense!" East told his partner at the conclusion of the following deal. "Did somebody twist your arm to make you over-ruff on my third diamond lead?"

West, a placid (and not too expert) sort of player, could not defend himself — and so the declarer did it for him, putting East to rout.

South, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

St. Francis Catholic church, Hollandtown, was the site of nuptials Aug. 13 uniting in marriage Miss Phyllis Lamers, route 3, Kaukauna, and Thomas Van Vreede, Appleton. The newlyweds are residing at 983 Shawano avenue, Green Bay.

East played the king and ace, and continued with a third diamond. South ruffed with the heart jack, and West promptly overruffed with the queen.

If West had been able to put East in for another diamond lead, this overruff would have turned out very well, since West's remaining trumps would have produced another trick, but East had no entry and so it was easy for declarer to draw trumps and spread the hand.

Then came East's criticism, previously noted. "All you had to do," he said severely, "was to discard on South's trump jack, and you would have made two trump tricks."

"Oh yeah?" interposed South. "Is that so! What do you want West to discard on the trick?"

East uneasily suggested a spade.

South then reconstructed the hand and replayed it openly with that change of defense. After holding the third diamond with the heart jack, South laid down the heart king. When East showed out, South cashed all four clubs, discarding a spade, then cashed the ace and king of spades.

He then led the five of hearts and, of course, West was end-played in trumps. Winning with the eight, he had to lead back into declarer's tenace and, as before, only one heart trick was lost.

At Times Rules Can Be Broken

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I read in the paper some time ago, a letter from a man who complained about things girls did that irritated him. One of them was the climbing over her when getting into a taxi. The girl got in first, naturally, and then instead of sitting farthest from the door, she sat next to the door, necessitating the man to climb over her. A friend of mine defended his action by saying, "no girl ever sits on a man's left, but always on the right. I contend that while that may apply on formal occasions, the natural and courteous thing to do when entering a taxi cab is to take the seat farthest from the door so that the man does not have to climb over the girl."

Answer: I agree with you that the rule requiring that a lady be seated on a gentleman's right can be broken quite properly in a taxi; especially when it is a question of the modern small taxis in which it would be almost impossible for him to climb over the girl.

man's right can be broken quite properly in a taxi; especially when it is a question of the modern small taxis in which it would be almost impossible for him to climb over the girl.

Broken Engagement
Dear Mrs. Post: I have often read in your column that a girl is supposed to return the engagement ring as well as all other presents of value given her by her fiancé when the engagement has been broken, but I have never seen anything about the man's returning valuable presents given to him by her. Does the same rule apply to him?

Answer: Yes. Any presents of value given him by her while the engagement lasted should be returned.

Seats of Honor
Dear Mrs. Post: Please tell me where the guest of honor sits on a dais at a very large semi-public dinner, and which other seats are considered of next importance.

Answer: The guest of honor is seated at the right of the chairman, or toastmaster. The next two important seats are at the chairman's left and the guest of honor's right.

Toughie Well Done

Peninsula Players Give 'No Time for Sergeants'

BY JOHN TORINUS
Post-Crescent News Service

Fish Creek — The Peninsula Players tackled a real toughie for their last production of the season, "No Time for Sergeants," and came up with a surprisingly fine performance on opening night Tuesday.

The popular service show by Ira Levin demands a large cast, many tricky sets, intricate sound effects and machine-gun timing, all of which pose special problems for a summer stock theater. The ingenuity with which the Players solved some of these problems adds interest to the performance.

The show continues through Sunday night, with a double-header on Saturday.

Fine Season
This is pretty much Maurice Ottinger's show. His rendition of Will Stockdale caps a fine season with the Players. He has demonstrated an amazing versatility over the summer, and an ability to get the real meat out of a juicy role.

The Georgia-cracker twang comes somewhat naturally to Ottinger, having been raised about 30 miles from the locale of the play, just across the border in Tennessee. He is on double duty. Green Bay stage practically every minute of the two lengthy acts and his lines pace most of the show. The role demands that he get most of the humor by playing it straight, which he accomplishes admirably.

In case you haven't seen it in a number of stage presentations in this area or in the movies, this is the story of the mountain boy who is drafted into the air force and who wreaks ultimate confusion on all ranks by his simple-minded frankness and honesty.

It's a 3-man show, with Chandler Harris starring as Ben and Bill Munchow characterizing Sergeant King. This is the annual theatrical effort of Harris, Sturgeon Bay newspaper editor, and he makes the most of it.

Munchow's interpretation of the sergeant leaves this reviewer with the feeling that he missed the target to some extent. What happens to this sergeant should happen to only a very few, and the way Munchow plays it he integrates completely. In other words, it's somewhat overdone.

By the nature of the script, the rest of the roles are minor, and many of the Players' stage was effective, and unique in many ways.

Rotators Club Meets for Cards

Rotators Card club held its monthly meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Mulze, 431 Monroe street, Neenah. Prizes went to the Mmes. Menford Radke, David Brehmer and Philip Ziegler.

The next club will be Oct. 1 when Mrs. Rayburn Kaufman, 820 W. Parkway boulevard, entertains.

spectators were particularly interested in the appearance of Bill Weaver as Gen. Bush. Bill, president of the Green Bay Community theater, was drafted for the cast last Friday, and had no difficulty filling out the role like a summer stock veteran.

Other Players
Also worth mention were the appearances of Bob Schreiber, Fish Creek, as the flight engineer, Bill Leist, Kenny Platza and Dan Copisky, other local products, as inductees.

Kert Lundell rates mention again for his ingenious sets. On large professional stages this became quite a production set-wise, and Lundell's adaptation to the Peninsula Players' stage was effective, and unique in many ways.

'Divorcees Unhappiest People' Claims One of the Lonely Crowd

AP Newsfeature

Maybe your husband makes you so mad sometimes that you could cheerfully belt him one—but think twice before you rush out to get a divorce. Think what life would be like without him.

"Divorcees are the unhappiest women in the world."

Sider says Frances Sider, who won both fame and fortune as a sportswear designer in New York before she decided to get a divorce, shut up shop after 25 years. I was embarrassed and moved to Miami to start a new business and a new life. "I know, because I am one. And I watch the others, down in that playtime merry-go-round of Florida."

Married 25 Years
"I was married for 25 years before I gave up. Suddenly I found myself a single woman, with a half-grown daughter. Times and customs had changed since my girlhood days. I didn't understand the new patter and the new ways, and I found I didn't want to."

"When I first arrived in Miami my friends kept introducing me to eligible men, but I didn't know how to talk to them. You lose practice at flirting get a divorce, shut up shop after 25 years. I was embarrassed and moved to Miami to start a wanted nothing so much as to get back home, alone, with only my daughter to talk to."

Began Miami Business
Since her Miami sojourn, Mrs. Sider has started a new sportswear business there, designing bathing suits and resort clothes on the spot, selling to stores around the country as well as in Florida. She is busy, successful, smart and good-looking.

"And I've never been lonelier in my life," says she. "Besides that, I worry about my daughter. I feel inadequate when she has problems. I keep thinking that her father should be there to help make decisions, and to advise her."

Husband-Hunters
"Miami is full of children of broken homes, and some seem to adjust happily to life with only one parent, while others feel insecure."

"I see their mothers often, taking cabanas at the most fashionable hotels, flaunting themselves on the beach, hunting, always hunting, for new husbands. You can tell them by the desperate light in their eyes."

"Some do remarry soon after the divorce—but more often than not they find that the second try is no better than the first, and take off for Reno."

Stepfather Hurdle
"It's a frightening spectacle. I know it has frightened me. Fortunately I have something to keep me busy, so I don't have to sit around and brood. Running a business and raising a daughter are two big jobs which leave little spare time."

"And if I did meet a man who promised companionship and love, I'm afraid I'd think first of my daughter, and what a stepfather might mean to her."

"Believe me, that freedom that so many wives yearn for isn't all it's cracked up to be." All of which may explain the philosophy of a charming lady who was asked, on her golden anniversary, if she had never considered divorce, and who replied:

"Divorce, never! Murder, often!"

Thomson and Nelson Outline Tax Hike Views

Governor Against Impairing Business, Job Opportunities

Madison —P— Republican Gov. Vernon Thomson said Tuesday that if it becomes imperative that Wisconsin raise new taxes in the 1960-61 biennium they "must not impair our competitive position in business and the creation of job opportunities."

"They must be equitably levied and provide adequate protection for low income groups and citizens with large families," he added.

State Sen. Gaylord A. Nelson, the Democratic party candidate for governor, stated that if an emergency should arise wherein the state needed funds urgently he would urge consideration of two temporary measures pending the completion of a full study of the tax picture. The measures would be to plug existing loopholes and to impose a surtax.

Answer Questionnaire
The two candidates gave their views on taxation, education and other state problems in answers to questionnaires sent out by the League of Women Voters of Wisconsin.

In answer to a question about extending opportunities for higher education, the governor said he would continue to make much needed buildings and facilities available to meet demands. He also said he would increase the maximum loan available to any Wisconsin student and extend the period for repayment.

Nelson, in answer to the same question, said he favored a state-wide scholarship program with loans and grants to competent students who can not manage a college education without such assistance.

Nelson added that he was strongly opposed to a sales tax and would veto a right-to-work bill if he were governor and it came to him.

The governor said he favors the creation of job opportunities, the preservation and improvement of natural resources and sustaining and stimulating basic economies, agriculture, industry and recreation.

Justice Courts Handle 111,501 Cases in Year

Madison —P— More than half of Wisconsin's 930 justices of the peace did not handle any cases in 1957.

The annual report of the Wisconsin Judicial Council, released Tuesday, indicated the others had plenty to do as they handled more than two-thirds of the state's criminal and ordinance violation cases. Justice courts handled 111,501 of the 151,436 cases of this kind reported by all courts during the year.

These courts also handled 18,434 civil cases and 1,449 preliminary examinations. Justice courts are limited in jurisdiction to civil cases involving $200 or less and criminal cases where the fine is $200 or less and imprisonment six months or less.

Traffic violations accounted for 107,556 of the 1957 criminal and ordinance violations in Wisconsin. Drunk driving cases totaled 3,629. Traffic cases were handled by circuit, superior, municipal, district and justice courts.

Red-Headed, Blue-Eyed Teen From Italy Is Fourth Exchange Student

BY MICHELE MATHEWS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

An incongruous-looking Italian teenager with red hair, blue eyes and freckles is the fourth foreign exchange student sponsored by the American Field Service to arrive in Appleton.

He's 18-year-old Norberto Vanoncini from Bergamo, a city of 100,000 about 30 miles northeast of Milan, who will spend the school year at the Clement Quella home, 621 W. Lawrence street. The Quellas' son, Tom, 17, will be a senior at Appleton High school.

Another exchange student, a girl from Pakistan, will live at the Donald DeNoyers, 50 Bellaire court, whose daughter Linda also will begin her senior year.

Norberto, already dubbed "Nubs" by 12-year-old Judy Quella, has been exposed to many aspects of an American teenager's life since he arrived here Aug. 10 after a 12-day boat trip.

Recently he saw for the first time the great American pastime, watching the Fox Cities Foxes lick the Cedar Rapids Raiders. He enjoyed it, even though his American buddy had to explain much of the game to him.

Football in Italy "Baseball is not popular in Italy," Norberto said. "Our national sports is football — not like American football, but English football."

Wednesday night the two went to the Pierce park dance, which Norberto found very different from dances in his home country — from the attire of the dancers to the music.

"In Italy we also have rock 'n' roll, but more sentimental songs," he said. The girls wear long dresses instead of shorts and slacks and the boys wear ties and jackets. And, he added, the girls are chaperoned by parents on their dates.

A picnic Sunday, when the whole Quella family went to Loon lake and the Menominee Indian reservation, and a chance to operate a motor boat were more firsts for the young man.

Seeing an American movie — "Indiscreet" in this case — was almost as typically Italian as American, for Norberto said that in Italy he saw more American than Italian movies.

Monday night the two, like many other area teenagers, went to the Waupaca casino, where Norberto was apparently exposed to a little more rock 'n' roll.

American activities have extended to his life at home, where he is reading "Twenty Thousand Leagues under the Sea", and understanding it very well, he said, because he's seen the movie, and helping Tom with chores like washing the car and mowing the lawn.

Other activities planned before school opens Sept. 3 include visits to the state fair and a lumberjack show in Shawano.

By now he has some opinions and comparisons. Appleton, Norberto said is "nice," American girls are "nice — very nice."

In Italy cars are fewer and smaller, highways are narrower, gasoline is more expensive (26 cents a liter, slightly over a quart) and an electric razor is a luxury at $100 — "very popular but nobody can afford them."

As for food, he hasn't yet sampled pizza, American-style, but remarks that the Italian type is smaller and thicker. "And he's never heard of spumoni," Tom said. Although Italians eat ice cream, Norberto added, they call it ice cream.

Milk Yes, Corn No
He likes all American food, he said, except corn on the cob. "In Italy it's used for pig food, I guess," Tom offered as an explanation. "I'm glad he drinks a lot of milk," Mrs. Quella remarked, and Tom added that "Mother thought she'd have to put a pint of wine on the table."

A current bond between the Italian and American teenager, Norberto said, is the song "Nel Blu di Pinto di Blu," a hit there, as it is here. Norberto brought a record of the song from Italy to the Quellas, explaining that the title means "Painted in Blue."

Gesturing as he translated, he explained that the lyrics are about a man who had a dream, painted his face and hands blue and began to fly, happy as the world got farther away. Although his dream, like all dreams, ended in the morning, it continued when he looked into the blue eyes of the girl he loved.

High School Classes
When Appleton High school opens Sept. 3, Norberto will begin classes in speech, college — preparatory English, American history, fourth-year mathematics and French, which he will audit. He has taken English for four years and also speaks French.

After finishing examinations July 28, two days before he left for America, Norberto was a high school graduate and was an accountant with a degree. In Italy high schools are divided according to the subjects they teach, he explained, as are the colleges. Among these are classical, scientific and industrial schools.

When he returns to Italy he will attend the University of Milan for four years for a degree as doctor of commerce and science.

Norberto's father is a cashier at a bank in Bergamo. The Vanoncini family also includes boys 23, 20 and 9 and a girl 12.

The young man received his American Field service scholarship after taking written and oral examinations in Milan.

Tag Day Ban Pigeon-Holed By Committee

The Appleton Downtown Retail association's request for a ban on so-called "tag day" street solicitations has been pigeon-holed by the council's welfare and ordinance committee.

Committee Chairman Harold Hannemann said committeemen seemed agreed to withhold any action on the request.

Veterans organizations appeared before the committee earlier this month to oppose the ban.

Ancient Village Site Uncovered in Hungary

Budapest — Workmen building a new stadium at Ozd, about 100 miles north-east of Budapest, have found a village over 1,800 years old. MTI, the Hungarian news agency, gave these details:

It was apparently inhabited between the second and fourth centuries of the Christian era. The earliest villagers lived in a cave, but excavations showed the development of houses — some with ovens built into the walls.

The earliest remains of earthenware vessels are hand-made, but later pots were made on a wheel, of clay and graphite.

Ornaments and spindles found show the villagers either came from the region of Russia's Dnieper river or were in close touch with that area commercially.

Archaeologists are puzzling over an iron arrowhead also found at the village, which is not at all typical of the place and period.

Former Appleton Man Gets Award For Saving Two

Jerome Heimermann, Lafayette, La., formerly of Appleton, has received a public service award from a New Orleans radio station for pulling two men from the plane he was piloting after it crashed.

Heimermann is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Heimermann, 902 N. Morrison street, and a graduate of Appleton High school and Southwestern Louisiana institute in Lafayette. He is now a commercial pilot.

The light sea plane crashed while landing in a canal Aug. 13 near Venice, La., about 70 miles from New Orleans. Heimermann, who suffered minor leg injuries, pulled his two unconscious passengers from the plane before it sank.

Top Entertainment Sets Record in Hollywood

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood —(AP)—Entertainment is booming in the show business capital of the world. Never can I remember so much prime entertainment of all kinds in the Hollywood area. And the public is buying. If this prosperity can be continued and spread throughout the nation, show biz need have no worries.

The Hollywood bowl is finishing up a record season that has offered everything to all audiences, longhairs and crewcuts. Van Cliburn and Count Basie.

The Greek theater, once a civic white elephant, has been booming. Maurice Chevalier, Danny Kaye, Jose Greco, Cyril Ritchard, the ballet and now Jerry Lewis have proved to be surefire attractions.

Theater Booming
The fabulous invalid, the theater, is booming. Eve Arden breezed into town as "Auntie Mame" and she'll have one of the longest runs in recent times at the Biltmore. Eve is at the peak of her career as Mame. While she doesn't milk each line as Rosalind Russell does, she keeps the laughs coming and plays the tender moments with great poignancy. She proves she can do much more than deliver gag lines in TV situation comedy.

Half a block away at the Philharmonic auditorium, "The Music Man" is displaying his brassy ware nightly to packed houses. Forrest Tucker is winning many friends with his job in the Robert Preston role. The guy deserves a better fate than horse operas.

The parks are doing great. A return visit to Disneyland impressed me once more what a unique wonderland it is. Disneyland is packing them in this summer as never before. Soon the turnstiles will clock the 13 millionth customer.

Seaside, Movies
Pacific Ocean park is also getting off the ground in fine style. The joint venture of CBS and Santa Anita has drawn a half-million in the first 30 days of its sea side amusements. Marine land, with a whale of an attraction in Bubbles, the monstrous mammal, is also doing well. And don't leave the movie business out of the picture. Hollywood is bringing up its biggest guns to aim for the late-summer trade.

Last weekend, Gregory Peck tossed a party to celebrate his "Big Country" premiere and it looked as if the old days had returned to Hollywood. The picture was worth it. A western in the truly epic tradition, it is movie making at its best.

There are others, too: "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof," a fine, taut drama with superb acting; "Reluctant Debutante," all fluff and delightful; "The Defiant Ones," a return to tight, meaningful storytelling; "White Wilderness," a delight; "The Hunters," a zippy jet film.

Undulant Fever Sometimes Chronic; Hard to Diagnose

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
"Dear Sir: What about undulant fever? My son, who was in the service, has it. Shots have helped him some but he doesn't seem able to shake it entirely. — F. F."
The disease has been reduced considerably, but it is still a distinct problem in the midwestern part of the country, mostly among farmers, meat handlers (butchers, packing house workers) and others who may come in contact with infected milk or infected animals. It is possible to get it from drinking milk from infected cows or goats, but at least in the cities we can be pretty sure that the milk is safe.
One name for the disease is brucellosis, but it is called undulant fever because of the fluctuating temperature that accompanies it—sometimes the fever is normal in the morning but rises in the evening.
Symptoms
Weakness, headaches, joint pains and a variety of other aches are the principal symptoms and, in women, it can cause infection in the Fallopian tubes. Also, the lymph nodes may become enlarged, in the neck, armpits or elsewhere.
Sometimes the malady is rather difficult to diagnose. In an acute case when you can recover the germ in the bloodstream, you can, of course, make a positive diagnosis.
In time the disease tends to "burn itself out," but it can also lapse into a chronic phase, which sounds like the case we're discussing today. Then identifying it can be difficult, although naturally there is no such problem involved if the disease was diagnosed while it was still acute.
Drugs Useful
The antibiotic "wonder drugs" have been useful in treating undulant fever. The tetracycline drugs and possibly the use of streptomycin by injection constitute the best program of treatment.
To return, once again, to the particular case under discussion today—if we assume it to be one of those lingering chronic cases, repeating the treatment seems to be in order.
Cornea Transplant
"Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain a cornea transplant. Does the whole eye have to be taken from the deceased person, therefore causing disfigurement of the face? —Mrs. L. S."
Only a tiny bit of the cornea—the transparent covering of eyeball—is used, of course. A whole eyeball is taken from a deceased person, however, because the whole eyeball can be refrigerated until used, and at the time of use can be taken right into the operating room so that a disc of cornea can be cut to the exact size of the defective cornea that is being removed. As to disfigurement of the body from which the eye is taken—no. It is replaced at once with an artificial eye which is matched to exact color even though the eyes will be closed. There is no disfigurement, and it will not even be possible to see that the eye has been removed.

Soviets Conquer Illiteracy in 40 Years, U. S. Visitor Finds

Educator Is Concerned; Says Reds May be Ahead of Americans Soon

BY JAMES E. GUNN

"The American people are unaware of the enormous strides the USSR has made in eliminating illiteracy. Forty years ago the literate person in Russia was a rarity. Today every child gets seven years of schooling. In the cities he gets 10 years, and this will be true everywhere by 1965."

Dr. Franklin D. Murphy, Chancellor of the University of Kansas, spent three weeks in the Soviet Union with a group of six other U. S. university heads studying the Soviet system of higher education. He returned greatly impressed by the industrial and educational accomplishments of the USSR.

"The USSR set out to eliminate illiteracy and has succeeded."

What this has meant is best illustrated by Kazakhstan, the country of Tamerlane, a Soviet Socialist Republic in western Asia. It is a semi-arid province with extensive mineral resources. Forty years ago the people were nomads. They lived by herding sheep. They were 100 per cent illiterate.

Today, 40 years later, in this country of eight million people, every child gets seven years of school. Illiteracy has been completely eliminated except in the very old.

A tremendous price has been paid, it is true. Some of the Uzbeks didn't want to give up their nomadic life, didn't Money is no object. The teacher, who is as well paid as anybody in the nation, is a person of honor and prestige. The universities are given first-class tools.

"One can't help but be impressed by the fact that universities in Central Asia, only 30 years old, have libraries of more than a million volumes. Journals are flown in to them from all over the world.

"The older Soviet universities have many more, of course. The University of Moscow has eight million volumes, the University of Leningrad, six million.

The faculties are made up of first-class people. They are the cream of the nation, because being a teacher is one of the best ways to get ahead.

The bright student is not considered a grind but a hero not only to his fellows but to himself. There is a good reason for this: to get anywhere in the USSR you must have an education. The Soviets have set up all kinds of incentives to encourage the very best people to get into research and education.

Not Classless

"The Soviets do not have a classless society. They have more classes than we have, and they are using the incentive system more than we are. They are being very cold-blooded about it — and accurate."

The Russian child spends from age six months to four years in a nursery school — and his mother goes back to her job. For the next three years he goes to kindergarten.

At the age of seven he enters the 10-year school—in the city. In some rural areas, he may get only seven years of schooling.

At the end of seven years of the 10-year school, the student undergoes an evaluation of his potential by means of examinations and counseling, a decision is made for the student to go through the remaining three years and then on to higher education or to go to a technical school for three years.

The technical schools are mainly vocational. They teach all kinds of occupational skills, from agriculture to digging coal. At any time the student may be directed back into the higher education route.

Those who have finished the 10-year school can apply for admission to a university or technical institute. After examinations, one out of every three or four is accepted.

May be Behind

What does this conquest of illiteracy mean to us?

"The Soviets moving on from this first giant step into educational realms where we may be left behind," Dr. Murphy said soberly.

"It disturbs me greatly, when I think of the world my children must live in—if the USSR has done this in 40 years in Uzbek and Kazakhstan, what will happen in China with its 400 million people?"

GOP Head Hits Note of Optimism About Campaign

Chicago — The Republican National committee completes campaign plans for the congressional elections Tuesday with a resounding note of optimism from its chairman.

Chairman Meade Alcorn, predicting Republicans in the November elections "will provide the greatest upset since Harry Truman stumped the experts in 1948," told the committee yesterday:

"There is no reason for us to lose a single senate or house seat or a single governorship. There is every reason for us to win a number of these offices now held by Democrats.

"There is only one way in the world that Democrats can win a national victory this year, and that is by default. The only way we Republicans can lose is by defeating ourselves."

Alcorn said committee members agreed that the Eisenhower administration, has what he termed an exceptional record to sell to the voters this fall. The president was to speak by telephone at the committee's session today.

4-H Record Book Deadline Sept. 12

Oshkosh — All 4-H record books are due in the County extension office by Friday, Sept. 12, Clarence Westfall, Winnebago county 4-H director, has announced. Completion of a 4-H record book on all projects carried is necessary for a person to be considered an achieved member.

The annual state 4-H meeting will be held in Madison Oct. 26 to 29. Those leaders wishing to attend should make plans now. Some scholarships will be available. Henry Kirk, Omro, will be honored by the Wisconsin college of agriculture for 22 years of 4-H leadership in the county.

Record books will be completed at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Mikesville 4-H club at Allenville school. Stone school will be the scene of the 8 o'clock meeting Wednesday evening of the B-Square club.

Twin City TOPS

apart for a broad base and for a wide range of movement. Toes should be pointed straight ahead to prevent strain on the instep and ankle and a circular arrangement of equipment and supplies makes them handier. One long step instead of several little mincing steps saves time and energy.

Posture can be improved by standing tall with the upper back and hips in a straight line. Slumping and slouching invites fatigue and, of course, is not as attractive as a straight, but relaxed stance.

Work Surfaces
Work surfaces, such as cutting boards, sinks and ironing tables should be arranged to suit the height of the housewife. The surface should come to just below elbow level and tables can be raised by putting blocks below the legs and adjustable ironing boards save time and energy by allowing the worker to sit or stand conveniently.

The University of Wisconsin Extension service recommends a sitting position when possible and a low table or lap board pulled out from a kitchen cabinet provides a good sitting - work surface. It should be directly over and just above the lap.
For kneeling positions and bending over less fatigue will result if one knee is used to kneel and the back is kept straight. Brief rest periods throughout the day will do wonders in maintaining energy and good humor.

routes. The lost counties of Bad Axe and LaPoint are shown on another 1850 map, which also indicates the pine region north of Portage.

His maps of the 1850's and 60's are of interest primarily because they show the development of Wisconsin counties.

Coming of Railroad

An 1865 map of Wisconsin shows the railroad coming into Appleton, six years after it entered Oshkosh. On one of Nevitt's antique maps Appleton is indicated as two small settlements connected by a winding patch.

Many of the maps have been found by advertising the collector's need. Some of his county and state maps of the 1870's were purchased from a retired school teacher who had used them in her class-work. One prize he found tucked to the wall of an Oshkosh abstract office.

Some of Nevitt's maps dated after 1900 are roll-type maps or folding maps, or were special-purpose maps. A 1902 map indicates the ownership of individual farms in Winnebago county; a 1904 map shows towns and post-offices; a 1906 map shows the railroads in the state; a 1913 map the school board census and a 1915 geologic map shows conditions and elevations of the pre-Cambrian era.

In examining and cataloging his map collection, Nevitt has done considerable research into Wisconsin history and political science which he has typed into a veritable book. In addition he has made colored slides of his collection and is prepared to talk about his hobby to anyone who enjoys pouring over old maps.

Cyclist Hurt

Menasha — Paul Bliss, 14, 242 E. Columbia avenue, Neenah, received a cut on his right knee when his bicycle collided with a car door being opened by Roy Stroemer, 55, 841 Higgins avenue, Neenah, on Washington street at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. He was riding past the parked car just as the door was being opened.

Set Program for Jack, Jill Club At Winneconne

Winneconne — Talks given by one of the Winneconne teachers each month will be the program for the year planned by the executive board of the Jack and Jill club which met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Len Rice, club president.

Supervisors of art, music, physical education, home economics, Spanish, general mathematics, reading, English, psychotherapy and the director of school lunches will give programs.

Additional officers are Mrs. Vernice Anderson, vice president; Mrs. James Christensen, secretary, and Mrs. Edwin Berndt, treasurer.

The Winchester school, which has its own Jack and Jill club, will meet alternately with the Winneconne organization.

"Working the School Into the Community" will be the discussion subject of a group of teachers at the first meeting of the Civic league on Sept. 8.

Build New Church

Oshkosh — A building permit was issued by city officials here to Redeemer Lutheran church congregation for erection of a new stone veneer church costing $87,000. The church will be located at 903 Tennessee street.

Ramblers, Office Vie For Industrial Title

Kimberly-Clark Entry Seeks 12th Straight; Marathon Squad Closes With 12-2 Mark

Menasha — The championship of the Twin City Industrial Softball league will be decided tonight when Main Office, American division winner, and the Marathon Ramblers, National section titlists, collide at 8 o'clock at Jefferson park.

The Ramblers won their section with a 12-2 record while Main Office had a 13-1 mark in the American loop. The Rams, however, won their first 11 games and had the championship clinched before they lost two straight. Office, with several of its key players missing, was drubbed by the Marathon Packers 22-2 in its third game of the year and proceeded to win its last 11. The K-C entry avenged its only setback by besting the Packers 6-2 to nail down its championship last week.

4th Title Game

Tonight's game will be the fourth in the league's history when the champions of the two divisions face each other for the crown. The first four years of the circuit, games were played on a round system and victors of the two halves played off for the crown.

The Ramblers are perennial playoff representatives. Last season they bowed to Badger-Globe 5-0 in the final game while the preceding summer they lost to Gilbert Paper 8-2 in the windup test.

In 1955, the Ramblers beat Neenah Foundry for the crown in the first American versus National division play-off.

Other Champions

The Marathon entry won the league championship in 1954 and also in 1951, the first year of the circuit, when the firm had only one representative in the league.

Other champions were Badger-Globe in 1952 and Bergstrom Paper in 1953.

Doug Wialowski is expected to be on the mound for the Ramblers against Ken Krueger or Darell Schultz. Wialowski had an 11-1 record. John Fulkerson posted 1-1 for Marathon and Don Bretthauer didn't figure in any decisions.

Divide Duties

Krueger and Schultz divided the Main Office mound duties. Schultz was unbeaten in seven starts and Krueger had a 6-1 slate.

The rest of the Rambler lineup includes Shirden Wialowski behind the plate; Lee Peterson, Ben Stepanski, "Bibs" Smolinski and Marvin Pues, infielders, and Sam Gartze, Rolli Weiss and "Bud" Geibel, outfielders.

Joe Kosiorek is the Main Office catcher while infielders include Pete Burghardt, Doug Haufe, Gene and Jack Johnson, Sam McKibben, Frank Stute and Carl Hoehne and outfielders are Tony Krueger, Carl VandenBoom and Dick VanEyk.

Cherry Broil Makes Tasty Treatment for Flank Steak

BY FRANK KOHLER

Cherry London broil really lifts a flank steak to the heights. A wonderful outdoor item, this, and it is especially good because it is easier on the budget than the fancy cuts. This will serve four, using not less than a 2-pound flank steak.

- Seak as above specified
- 1 cup chopped maraschino cherries.
 - 1 cup maraschino cherry liquid.
 - 1 tablespoon lemon juice.
 - 2 tablespoons soy sauce.
 - 1 teaspoon cider vinegar.
 - 2 teaspoons dry sherry wine.
 - 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt.

Combine finely chopped cherries with remaining ingredients and mix well. Pour over the steak and marinate for at least two hours in refrigerator or, turning from time to time. Broil steak 3 to 4 inches above good coals, turning and brushing with marinade as it cooks. Give it about 10 to 12 minutes, or until done as you like it.

To serve, slice steak thinly, diagonally across the grain.

Sopa De Ajo
Sopa de Ajo is really authentic — a Spanish garlic soup, and our thanks to Miss Betty Wason of Pleasantville, N. Y. This will serve six. Six soup bowls must be good and hot.

- 6 cloves garlic (more if you like garlic).
- 2 tablespoons olive oil.
- 1 No. 300 can tomatoes.
- 1 bay leaf.
- 1 teaspoon paprika.

Nine Lettermen Listed on Neenah High Grid Squad

Rockets Make Debut Under New Coach Against Fondy

Neenah — A squad of some 60 candidates including nine lettermen, greeted new coach Marlon Batterman when he opened football practice at Neenah High school this week.

The Rockets are holding two-a-day drills in preparation for an eight-game campaign which gets underway Friday night, Sept. 12, at Fond du Lac, the only non-league test on the slate.

Returning lettermen from the 1957 Rocket powerhouse which won eight straight games to chalk up its second straight undefeated season include Jim Hensen, senior halfback; Bill Kuehl, senior quarterback; Dick Bruce, senior guard; Larry Rhymier and Harlan Hirsch, senior tackles; Don Jensen and Dale Ramich, senior ends; Jerry Moder, senior center, and Dick Wilson, junior fullback.

Regular Halfback

Hensen was the regular halfback. Kuehl started at quarterback during the several games in which Marv Carlson was injured; Moder started at center against Kaukauna when Gene Gries was ill and Ramich played regularly at defensive end a year ago.

Injuries and other miscellaneous activity have kept several frontliners from practice the last couple of days. Kuehl has a knee injury, and Ramich a blister on his foot. Jensen is at the county fair with his 4-H group.

Gary Ellis, who is expected to make a strong bid for the starting right halfback berth, has a foot infection and hasn't been able to practice at all and senior halfback John Laffin hasn't been out for the same reason. Both are seniors. Senior tackle Bob Tollefson became ill at practice Tuesday and will miss several days of drills. Because of shortage of halfbacks, Batterman has shifted Bill Fahrenkrug, sophomore fullback, to that position.

Graduation dug deep into the ranks of last year's conference champs which extended its winning chain to 17 straight games.

It took the three top ends, Ralph Syring, Bill Meyer and Omro — The Omro Bowhunters will sponsor their fifth annual White Tail broadhead shoot on their grounds, a mile west of Waukau, Sunday.

Archers will shoot at targets which will be full sized deer and bear in seven different positions. Each target will be placed in front of a hay bale.

St. Margaret Mary Successfully Defended its championship in the Neenah church softball league by downing Presbyterian 6-5 Wednesday night. In the front row, left to right, are Al De Roche, Doug Cane, Don Delfosse, "Sugar" Cane and Tom Wiesner. In the second row, same order, are Tom Collins, "Bud" Van, John Dowling, bathboy Al King, Wes Perket, Terry Kelly and Orrie Siebers.

St. Margaret Mary Repeats As Neenah League Champ

Defeats Presbyterian 6-5 In Church Circuit Windup

Neenah — St. Margaret Mary repeated as champion in the Neenah Church Softball league by edging Presbyterian 6-5 in a tight game at the Recreation field Wednesday night.

The winners grabbed the lead in the second inning with two runs and never trailed although the second round champs scored or threatened in every inning after that.

Doug Cane was the winning pitcher and "Tex" Harding took the loss. Both went all the way. Each allowed seven hits. Cane walked three, hit a batter and struck out two. Harding walked four and had three strikeouts.

Commits 5 Errors

Presbyterian committed five errors and St. Margaret Mary had one. St. Margaret Mary had three earned runs to four for the losers.

The victors opened their scoring with two in the second on two hits. "Bud" Van dropped a double into short centerfield to open the frame and John Dowling followed with a solid two-base blow to the same field, scoring Van. Dowling went to third on Wes Perket's infield out and scored on a wild pitch.

St. Margaret Mary came up with a single, double and walk in the third yet failed to score as runners were cut down at third and second.

Harding Homers

Presbyterian had a runner on first in the first and one reached second in the next frame but didn't score until the third when Harding blasted one of Cane's pitches over the left field fence for a homer. The bases were empty.

The first round victors made it 4-1 with a pair in the top of the fourth. Van led off the inning by reaching first when Harding bobbled his grounder. He was sacrificed to second and took third on a wild pitch.

Perket walked and Don Delfosse sacrificed home Van and at the same time moved Perket to second, from where he scored on Orrie Siebers' single.

Losers Score Two

Presbyterian came back with two in the lower half of the fourth. With two out, Dick Shleski singled to center. Dick Schultz followed with a one baser and Bob Hanley walked to load the bases. Harding hit a bouncer to short which took a bad hop as Perket was about to field it, scoring both Shleski and Schultz. Dick Machamer walked to again jam the sacks but Cane got Jim Young on a fly to center.

A walk, wild pitch, passed ball and Van's infield hit gave St. Margaret Mary a run in the fifth and a 5-3 lead. Presbyterian got it back in the last of the inning as "Pop" Nielsen singled, took second on a wild pitch, third on an infield out and scored on Shleski's second hit.

Tally in 7th

St. Margaret Mary got runners to first and third in the sixth, was blanked, but made it 6-4 with a marker in the seventh on three Presbyterian errors.

With one out in the last of the seventh, Nielsen was safe on a two-base outfield error, took third on an infield out and scored on a wild pitch. Cane walked Lambert, putting the tying run on first, but Shleski was called out on strikes to end the game.

Van led the St. Margaret Mary attack with two hits while Nielsen, Shleski and Harding each had a pair to account for all but one of the Presbyterian safeties.

Labor Day Buys May Please Shopper

Hams, Chickens Excellent Bargains,
Most Produce Reasonably Priced

The food shopper will find many good buys, most of them in the produce line, for the long Labor day weekend ahead. However, some meat specials may make the cook happy, particularly if she's planning a barbecue or will be entertaining.

Hams and frying chickens are top buys in meat departments although most other meats remain at the high levels they've been at for the last several months.

Large 10 to 16 pound hams are tagged at about 59 cents a pound, ham roasts are about 63 cents a pound while smaller picnics range from 39 to 43 cents a pound. Frying chickens are excellent at from 39 to 43 cents a pound.

More pork bargains are on the way, meat men say, since pig production is expected to continue higher for the rest of the summer and into early fall.

Other meat prices are still high. A sampling shows sirloin steak from 85 cents to $1.09, round steak from 69 to 89 cents, rib roast from 79 to 89 cents, shoulder veal steak at about 79 cents, veal rump roast at about 69 cents, pork roast from 69 cents upward, pork steak from 55 to 69 cents, pork chops from 79 to 85 cents and leg o' lamb at about 79 cents a pound.

Grade A large eggs are fairly high priced right now at from 55 to 57 cents a dozen. Pound for pound, pullets at 43 cents a dozen are considered a better buy.

Almost all produce found on fruit and vegetable counters are considered good buys this week.

If it's canning that's on your mind, this is an excellent time to do it. Colorado Elberta peaches are pegged at $1.89 for a 16-pound crate while Bartlett pears are going for $1.98 for a 16-pound crate. In smaller quantities, the peaches are about 10 cents a pound while the pears are 15 cents a pound.

Top Buys Blueberries, too, may be on the home canner's list and are priced at 29 cents a pint or $3.29 for a 12-pint case.

Other excellent fruit buys are watermelons at 59 cents

This Interesting Patio Meal Features cornucopias made of sliced bologna stuffed with a mouth watering sauerkraut mixture. After they are baked, bright carrot curls may be used for decoration. Serve with a tossed salad.

each, lemons at 49 cents a dozen and honey dew melons at 49 cents a melon.

Moderate to high priced are nectarines at 39 cents a pound, plums at 29 cents a pound, green and red grapes at 23 cents a pound and blue grapes at 25 cents a pound.

Tomatoes aren't too badly priced at 19 cents a pound but it's good to look them over carefully for quality. Prices probably will be dropping even more soon.

Vegetable bargains include beets at 10 cents a bunch, lettuce at 18 cents a head, cucumbers at 5 cents each, radishes at 5 cents a bunch, onions at 5 cents a bunch, green peppers at 5 cents apiece, green and wax beans at 19 cents a pound, celery at 19 cents a bunch, sweet corn at 29 cents a dozen, cabbage at 5 cents a pound, Idaho potatoes at 10 pounds for 65 cents and Wisconsin potatoes at 10 pounds for 39 cents.

Lamb-Bacon Whirl Makes Party Fare Of Ground Meat

Ground meat graduates from family fare to party fare in this ground lamb recipe. It's a company time special, made with bacon strips and ground lamb rolled together into a gala whirl.

Lamb and Bacon Whirls 1/2 pound sliced bacon 1/2 pounds ground lamb 1 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon pepper 1 teaspoon marjoram 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce 1 cup cornflakes 3 tablespoons water Arrange bacon slices with edges slightly overlapping on 2 sheet of waxed paper eight to 10 inches long. Combine lamb and remaining ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Spread one-inch intervals to hold the lamb mixture evenly over the bologna, and mix thoroughly. Spoon stuffing on bologna slices and roll into cornucopia shape. Fasten with cocktail picks. Bake in moderate oven 30 minutes.

Cornucopias Stuffed With Sauerkraut

For a patio picnic, cornucopias and a tossed salad laced with cheese cracker bits is a suggestion.

The cornucopias are made of rolled bologna slices and stuffed with a savory sauerkraut mixture. The recipe is as follows:

Patio Cornucopias No 2 can sauerkraut 2 tablespoons brown sugar 1 clove garlic, minced 1 large onion, chopped 1 apple, peeled, cored and chopped 1/2 teaspoon thyme 1/2 teaspoon salt Dash of pepper 30 shredded wheat wafers, crumbled (about 2 cups crumbs) 6 thick slices bologna Chop sauerkraut. Add remaining ingredients, except bologna, and mix thoroughly. Spoon stuffing on bologna slices and roll into cornucopia shape. Fasten with cocktail picks. Bake in moderate oven 30 minutes.

Quick Supper

Squaw Corn is the quick Saturday supper you've been looking for. Scramble eggs with cream-style corn and spicy strips of canned luncheon meat. Use an electric skillet for cooking right at the table, and serve with hot buttered toast.

en picks through the roll at one-inch intervals to hold the bacon in place. Cut in one-bacon and roll so the ends of inch slices. Brown slowly on both sides, turning frequently, until done, about 15 to 20 minutes. Pour off fat as it accumulates. Remove picks before slicing. Yield: six servings.

Meatball Kabobs Are Easy to Make and easy to serve. Family and guests will appreciate this attractive and hearty meal served from the outdoor grill.

Big Holiday Weekend Lends Itself to Picnics

Blue Sky meals are American favorites and just right for a long holiday weekend such as the one coming up for Labor Day.

Whether cooking is done over a simple fire along a stretch of beach, a backyard grill or prepared in the kitchen and carried to patio or picnic table, everything tastes better under the open sky.

Here are three types of holiday meals that will make the weekend a food success.

Chef Salad Supper
Fill a large bowl with cool, crisp greens (lettuce, curly endive, watercress, chicory, young spinach leaves).

Add lush ripe tomato wedges, chopped stuffed olives, Julienne strips of cooked ham and turkey (leftovers if you have them) and golden cheese croutons.

Toss with a favorite tangy dressing just before serving. It's a chef's trick to "roll" your salad to avoid the usual leaf-flying flurry. Go down to bottom of bowl with salad fork as you come up and over with spoon. Serve with hot or cold minted pineapple juice appetizer. Simmer a can of pineapple juice with few mint leaves over low heat 10 minutes. Remove leaves and serve hot, or chill until ready to use. Garnish with orange slices and mint sprigs.

Meatball Kabobs
2 lbs. ground beef
2 eggs
1 cup catsup
32 cheese crackers finely rolled (about 2 cups crumbs)
Chunks of tomatoes, mushrooms, onions, and green peppers

Mix first four ingredients and shape into balls about two inches in diameter. String on long skewers. On separate skewers string vegetable chunks. Grill meatballs 15 minutes, turning frequently. During last five minutes of cooking time, grill the vegetables.

Serve from skewers onto individual plates, with pickles, olives and extra crackers to scoop up the grilled vegetables. Pineapple boats filled with fresh fruit make an elegant dessert-salad.

Stuffed Franks
2 cups blue cheese crackers crumbs
1 egg
1/2 cup chopped ripe olive
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 cup cuber American cheese
1 teaspoon oregano

Lemonade Takes on Piquant Flavor Touch From Honey Addition

This hot lemonade with a piquant honey flavor is a tantalizing variation.

Combine the juice of one lemon and two tablespoons honey in a glass. Add enough hot water to fill the glass to within one inch of the top.

Lady Finger Meringues Make Easy Preparation

Those who shy away from meringues as too difficult will find these a welcome surprise.

Line custard cups with lady fingers. Then fill with sweetened diced fresh fruits and pile high with meringue made by beating two egg whites stiff and then beating in one-fourth cup sugar. Bake in a hot (425 degrees F.) oven for three to four minutes. Yield: four servings.

Anchovy Spread

Here's an idea for the adventurous: add minced anchovy to a shrimp salad mixture for sandwiches.

A Favorite of the Young Crowd any time, franks are even more tempting when roasted over an open fire. Corn on the cob roasted in the coals makes the perfect picnic.

Navajo Leaders Halt Union Moves

Window Rock, Ariz. — The Navajo Tribal council has moved to halt union organization efforts among Navajos.

The council Tuesday unanimously approved a modified right-to-work law forbidding employers to discriminate against union members or non-members. The tribal leaders said they will not permit union membership solicitation on the reservation for the time being.

The council said it acted because the Navajo lacks the educational attainment to understand complex union affairs and could be exploited.

The Navajo reservation, largest in the nation, has a population of more than 83,000 and an estimated work force of 8,000-10,000. The reservation has 600 producing oil wells, a large sawmill, several mines and processing mills. Total payroll on the reservation last year is believed to have exceeded 39 million dollars.

Man's Recipe

Tangy Recipe Is Answer to Hankering for Raisin Pie

BY HAYDN S. PEARSON

I put pies such as apple, blueberry and rhubarb at the top of my list, but every once in a while I get a hankering for a raisin pie.

Blanche experimented on today's combination until she hit this formula. It's juicy, tangy and flavorful. I like it just a whiff cooler than room temperature, which means a little care in timing when you take it from the refrigerator.

Raisin Pie

Use two cups seeded raisins, one cup sugar, one and one-fourth cup water, five teaspoons cornstarch, two tablespoons lemon juice, three tablespoons butter and pastry crusts.

Cook raisins and sugar in the cup of water until they boil. Add cornstarch, mixed with a little water, and cook for five minutes.

Remove from heat after five minutes. Stir in the lemon juice and butter. Pour the mixture into an unbaked crust.

Cover with top crust, rivet the edges together and puncture a few holes through which the steam can escape. Bake at 400 degrees for about 30 minutes or until done.

Steakburger Is Quick Sandwich

Short-order sandwiches rate a rousing cheer from most busy homemakers. This one, made in a wink with minute steaks, is yet another variation — and a good one — on that perennial American favorite, the hamburger.

Minute Steakburgers
4 minute steaks
One-third cup French dressing
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
4 hamburger buns, split and toasted

Dip steaks in dressing to coat both sides. Brown quickly in lard or drippings. Serve in toasted buns. Yield: four sandwiches.

Foxes Jolt Winona Behind Furlow, 10-3

NOTES and NOTIONS

Optimism is the prevalent theme of almost every oral and written report about the 1958 University of Wisconsin football team. If the Badgers have the kind of a big season that now seems very possible, several Fox Cities area boys figure to have a big hand in the glory deeds. Fullback Tom Wiesner, of Neenah, and left end Don Vander Velden and halfback Jerry Vander Velden, of Kimberly, rank near the top of a good sophomore crop. The other day Coach Milt Bruhn intimated that Wiesner has an outside chance of beating out veteran Jon Hobbs for the starting fullback assignment. Even if the Neenah block-buster doesn't win the No. 1 job, he will get plenty of chances to prance.

Rugged Don Vander Velden looks like a good bet to see a lot of action behind probable starter Dave Kocurek. And, speedboy Jerry Vander Velden will be hard to keep out as an alternate left half. Appleton's John Jooss, forced out of pre-season drills last year by a knee injury, may give it another whirl. He is one of six UW center candidates invited, and will make his decision in the next few days. The Badgers will have 27 lettermen — including nine of the players who started the final game last year — at Monday's opening practice. It's dangerous to prognosticate before the first ball is even kicked, but unless a punishing schedule takes its toll, a 1-2-3 finish for the UW is probable.

If the Fox Cities Foxes are to finish the season at the sought-after, 1,000-per-date-rate, they'll have to draw an average of about 1,600 fans to each of the final three home games (next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday). That's a tall, tall order — especially with no booster nights scheduled. However, it could be done if fans use the games as an opportunity to express their appreciation of the efforts exerted by club directors and Business Manager Bob Willis in pioneering Class B baseball in this locality. Attendance at the final series might also be construed in some quarters as an indication of fans' desire to see Class B ball return in '59.

Even if they reach a 1,000 average, the Foxes will fall somewhat short of the directors' pre-season goal of 65,000-70,000 attendance. All things considered, though, the area's support of the Foxes has been encouraging. After all, the Foxes are the only team besides ill-fated Rochester which has not given patrons a concerted drive to cheer about. Davenport, for example, won the first-round title. Cedar Rapids seems assured of similar honors in the second round. Green Bay has been in flag contention most of the second round. Burlington made a spirited run from last place to second in the first half campaign. And, Winona has been a pleasant surprise to its new fans in the second round. Only the Foxes, then, of the surviving clubs, have engineered no push toward the top.

The Foxes' support has been good, too, considering the weather. Among the 59 home dates have been an abundance of cold or threatening days.

Tom Trautmann traveled by air nearly 5,000 miles to play in the Little League world series at Williamsport, Pa., last week. Tom, who played first base for the Pearl Harbor team, is the son of Comdr. and Mrs. J. R. Trautmann (native Appletonians) and the grandson of Mrs. Leslie Holzer, 1034 E. Pacific street and Mr. and Mrs. John Trautmann, 1425 N. Morrison street. The team, composed of 9-13 year old sons of navy and marine personnel, won the Pacific region championship. Tom and his mates didn't win the "world" title, but they had the thrill of competing in the colorful series.

Danny Lewis, one of the only two regulars lost by the football Badgers, made quite an impression on the Detroit Lions with his showing against the College All-Stars. Lewis, who was drafted by the Lions because of his reputation as a good outside runner, made his bosses happy with his "inside" work on quick-hitting plays. He gained 44 yards in six tries. Only Alan "The Horse" Ameche gained more ground in his UW career than did Lewis. Coach George Wilson tabs Lewis "a real comer in pro football."

The Little Chute drum and bugle corps will entertain at halftime of the Packer-Eagle exhibition game Labor day.

Among the 50 La Crosse college gridders invited for the first drill Monday are Appleton's Jerry Johnson and Bruce Kobs; Clintonville's Jim Brown; and Oshkosh's Gene Conger and Al Vandenberg.

Beecham Wins Slate 1st Annual Cherryland Open

Miami Beach, Fla. — (AP) Jimmy Beecham of Miami moved up the middleweight ladder Wednesday night with a popular 10-round decision over Chicago's Bobby Boyd.

Beecham, formerly of Philadelphia, used a looping left the pin on two short holes to the head and a strong right for holes-in-one. Boyd, ranked No. 10, towered over the muscular Beecham and had a longer reach but his left jabs could not match Beecham's fewer but harder landings.

Earl Hurls 7-Hitter, Ends Skein

Winona, Minn. — The Fox Cities Foxes broke a 4-game losing streak here Wednesday night, thumping Winona, 10-3, behind Earl Furlow's 7-hitter. All four losses in the streak were to the A's in a 4-game set in Appleton.

Furlow gave up three runs in the first inning and then settled down superbly, allowing four hits and just two walks the rest of the way. His fast ball was hopping and curve was breaking sharply as the big righthander made his record 4-3.

The 3-game set continues tonight with Ernie Nevers (8-5) the pitching choice for the A's, probably against Ron Bloodworth (6-9) or "Berto" Cueto (1-1).

Bob Van Dyke, "Chick" Payne and Bob Tano smashed home runs for the Foxes. Tano also had a couple of singles while Payne and Van Dyke each smacked one single too. Jim Hall thumped a single, double and triple for the Fox Cities.

Hill is Loser
The loser was Dave Hill who had beaten the Foxes Friday night. He was knocked out in a 6-run third.

Only Dave Gorrie, who pounded a double and a single, had more than one hit for Winona.

Dick Howser doubled to right to lead off Winona's only scoring inning the first. He went to third on a passed ball and scored on Tom McDonald's double to left center. Furlow walked Roy Scercy.

Appleton's Legion Nine Is Honored

Bob Allen, of the Milwaukee Braves public relations department, discussed the Braves and showed a film on highlights of the 1957 Braves season at the American Legion Post No. 38 banquet honoring the Legion Junior baseball team Wednesday evening.

Also addressing the group briefly was Menasha's Dave Koslo, who pitched for the New York Giants and the Braves. Koslo stressed that teamwork and hard work are necessary for a boy to become a good player.

Frank Warner, president of the Fox Valley Legion league, summarized the league's just-concluded season. T. J. Sherry of Sherry Motors, co-sponsor of the team, also spoke.

Other guests at the affair included Loren Lilleg, of Sherry Motors; Bob Willis, business manager of the Fox Cities Foxes; Percy Sharp, American Legion post commander and E. W. Grover, Appleton City recreation director.

Legion team personnel attending were: Bob Beltrone, manager, and Jack Forster and Ray Kolaskinski, coaches and players Jack Relien, Larry Bogenschutz, Marv and Rick Hietpas, Dick Wankey, Dick Sonnenleitner, Roger Gruska, Jerry Loberger, Dennis Garvey, Dave Nymoen, Brian Zordel and Ken Scheuer.

Seven Games Out

Pirates Rap Cards, 14-1, With 18-Hit Attack

Pittsburgh moved to within seven games of the National league-leading Milwaukee Braves by rapping 18 hits to beat St. Louis, 14-1.

In the other games, Cincinnati defeated Los Angeles, 8-7, and the Chicago Cubs stopped Philadelphia, 5-2, with Ernie Banks pushing his major league-leading home run total to 42.

Dick Stuart, Bob Skinner and Bob Porterfield homered in the Pirates' 6th victory, in their best total since winning 71 in 1949. Porterfield was forced off the mound by a knee injury in the fourth inning, leaving the victory to reliever Vern Law (10-11), who pitched 1-hit, shutout ball. Skinner and Thomas, who dou-

Giants Squash Braves' Jinx With 3-2, 12-Inning Victory

Bob Trowbridge Walks Home Winning Run

The San Francisco Giants finally have squashed Milwaukee's hex, hitting the law of averages for a double jackpot behind the hitless relief pitching of Al Worthington.

The Giants had lost eight in a row to the Braves and Worthington had beaten them only twice in 15 decisions before the big righthander backed up his almost perfect 3-inning job on the mound with a twelfth-inning single that led to a 3-2 victory Wednesday night.

That clipped the Braves' National league lead to seven games over runnerup Pittsburgh.

Adcock Homers
The Giants made it as Bob Trowbridge walked Orlando Cepeda on four pitches with the bases loaded in the twelfth, cracking a 2-2 tie that had stood since Joe Adcock had put the Braves square with a pinch home run in the seventh.

Worthington (11-6) gave the Braves nothing but a walk in his three innings. He struck out three. Stu Miller went nine, giving up nine hits, three of them in the first inning when "Red" Schoendienst, Hank Aaron and Wes Covington singled for a 1-0 Milwaukee lead. Daryl Spencer's fifteenth home run, after a walk to Cepeda, gave the Giants the edge in the fourth against started Juan Pizarro.

Aaron supplied what dash there was in the Milwaukee attack, getting five of Milwaukee's nine hits in six trips. He collected singles in the first, third, sixth, seventh and ninth innings.

Gets 11th Win
The fourth Milwaukee pitcher, Trowbridge came on in the twelfth. After getting an out, Trowbridge was tagged for a single by Worthington. Willie Mays walked and then Jackie Brandt singled to load the bases. Trowbridge then threw four straight balls at Cepeda and forced home the deciding run.

Worthington claimed his

Ike Hopes Senator '9' Stays in Washington

Directors Expected to Give Griffith Conditional OK to Seek Transfer

Washington — (AP) — Directors of the Washington Senators may give Club President Calvin Griffith conditional authority Friday to seek American league permission to shift the team to Minneapolis.

The directors, at their regular monthly meeting, are expected to discuss the possibility of moving.

"We have reached no conclusion," Griffith said. But he added in an interview that Washington's board probably would accept if Minneapolis came through with satisfactory terms on stadium facilities, rental, concessions and other items.

No Final Decision
Griffith later reduced "probably" to "possibly." Still it was the first time he had acknowledged that much since reports started buzzing last week that the Senators were again contemplating a move.

President Eisenhower said at his news conference he was sure that if the team had a fighting chance of breaking in to the first division, "this city would demand that they stay here."

And, he added, "I think they should."

The Senators have finished in the cellar two of the last three seasons and are back there now. Attendance has been correspondingly low.

Griffith said he and the other directors would make no final decision until Minneapolis presents an offer. The Minneapolis city council votes Friday on a bond issue to double its stadium's capacity to 41,000.

Rakow Hurls Both Ends of Doubleheader

Green Bay Wins, Then Loses by 3-1 Scores

By The Associated Press

Edward Charles Rakow is a right-handed pitcher in search of more comfortable surroundings than working in a Class B league offers.

The Rock, as he's nicknamed, showed his desire for greater things Wednesday night.

Injury - hit Green Bay called upon the 22-year-old from Pittsburgh to pitch both games of a doubleheader against Cedar Rapids, the Three-I League leader.

That amounted to 18 innings since it took Green Bay 10 innings to win the opener, 3-1. Rakow lost the 8-inning nightcap, however, by the same score.

Allows 9 Hits
Rakow, in only his second season of professional baseball, gave up just nine hits—five of them in defeat. He yielded only one run in 14 innings and then a 3-run rally in the fifth inning of the second game was his undoing.

Burlington beat Davenport, 6-5 and 4-3, and moved into a fourth place tie with the Davenport's Jim Lynn hit a ninth inning homer in the second game.

Bays, Eagles Both Expect To 'Explode'

McLean Plans To Start Parilli In Monday's Tilt

Green Bay — The Packers and Eagles both expect to explode offensively at City stadium Monday afternoon.

The reason is quite obvious: Both clubs were shut out in their last outings—and by the same low score, 3-0. What's more, Monday's combatants were victimized by the same horrors—rain and mud.

The Eagles were blanked by the Bears last Sunday; the Packers by the Steelers a week ago Wednesday. Needless to say, both losers bristled with defense.

The two clubs figure to stress scoring Monday. The Eagles already demonstrated that they know how to score, having scored 30 in whipping the Baltimore Colts, 30-28, in their opening exhibition. Green Bay's only previous showing was the Pittsburgh affair.

Packer Coach Ray McLean plans to start "Babe" Parilli at quarterback and then sit back with veteran sidekick Bart Starr and rookie Joe Francis in reserve. Starr started the Pitt game.

Adds New Life
Coach "Buck" Shaw of the Eagles will start his prize quarterback from the Los Angeles Rams, one Norm Van Brocklin. The Dutchman as a Ram has had good and bad days against the Packers, and when he's right he's murder.

Van Brocklin has put new life into the Eagles. He engineered an 80-yard march to whip the Colts in the last eight minutes. He carried his team 60 yards in the final minutes against the Bears — only to have the clock run out on the Bear 1-yard line.

Oddly enough the Packers and Eagles will be fielding "new" teams. Both clubs have new coaching regimes, Shaw replacing Hughie Devore and McLean taking over for "Liz" Blackburn.

Kramer Won't Plan
McLean plans to give all of his rookies a good shot, but he has two positions that are actually freshman — less, offensive end and slot back.

The Bays' offensive ends are Billy Howton and Dick Deschaine on the right side and Max McGee and Gary Knafelec on the left. And the slot

Tigers' Gail Harris Has 6 RBIs in Split

Chisox' Pierce Nudges Pascual; Athletics Rip Yanks, 11-7

By the Associated Press

Gail Harris, squeezed out of a job with the San Francisco Giants, has become Detroit's No. 2 gunner now that the Tigers have given him a home at first base.

In parts of three National league seasons, the 26-year-old lefty hitter had batted only .228, with 22 home runs and 68 runs batted in. Now, after 104 games in the American league, he's batting .285, leading the Tigers in homers (14) and triples (7) and is second only to Al Kaline in RBIs with 61—just five less than his total for 181 games with the Giants.

Wednesday he drove in six of nine Tiger runs in a day-night double-header split at Boston. He had a 2-run homer and a 2-run double as they won the nightcap, 7-2, and singled home both Detroit runs in a 3-2 afternoon defeat.

Cleveland Cops
Kansas City ripped New York, 11-7, reducing the pennant-bound Yankees' bulge to 1½ games over the White Sox, who won, 2-1, at Washington. Cleveland defeated Baltimore, 8-5.

Tom Brewer (9-10) won his fourth straight for Boston with a 6-hitter in the opener, blanking the Tigers on three hits after the first inning. Jim Piersall drove in a pair for the Red Sox, counting the clincher with a sacrifice fly off Jim Bunning (9-9).

Harris homered in the nightcap first, then doubled in a 4-run fifth, when Charley Maxwell, who drove in Detroit's other three, hit a 2-run homer off loser Ike Delock, (12-4). Paul Foytack (10-11) won it. Gene Stephens, substiting for the ailing Ted Williams, drove in both Sox runs, one with a homer.

The A's scored seven unearned runs in the first off Johnny Kucks (8-7), who gave up six hits after Bobby Richardson's two-out error. Tom Gorman (4-4) won it in relief for the A's, who tagged four pitchers for 18 hits. Yogi Berra hit his twentieth homer—his tenth consecutive year of 20 or more—and Mickey Mantle socked his thirty-seventh for five Yankee runs.

Southpaw Billy Pierce won his fifth straight and fifteenth of the year with a 4-hitter for the White Sox, giving up a seventh-inning home run to Norm Zauchin. Nellie Fox's bunt and doubles by Billy Goodman and Don Mueller bagged it in the fourth against Camilo Pascual (7-9).

The Indians had 15 hits, but Cal McLish needed ninth-inning relief from Don Mossi for his fourteenth victory.

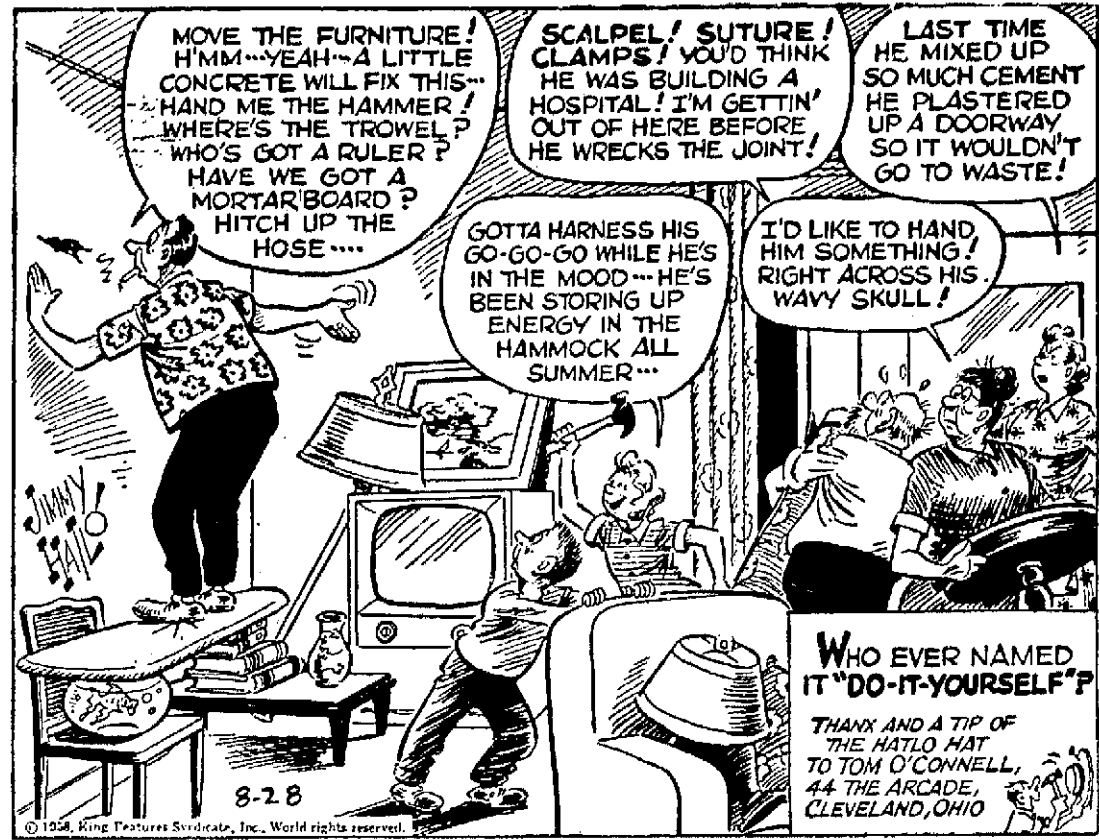

Detroit Red Wings Have 21 Players in Fold

Detroit — General Manager Jack Adams has signed 21 Detroit Red Wing hockey players and anticipates no holdout trouble.

Only five players are unsigned and only one of that group is a regular. He is defenseman Marcel Pronovost. The Red Wings go into training Sept. 8.

It was the initial victory for the Giants who lost the first three games of the five-game series ending today. However, they trail Milwaukee in the season series, 5-15.

Pizarro allowed the Giants two runs in the fourth. After Cepeda singled, Daryl Spencer lined the first pitch 370 feet over the left field fence.

Milwaukee had opened the scoring in the first on singles by Red Schoendienst, Aaron and Wes Covington. Their second came in the seventh on Adcock's homer as he batted for Pizarro.

During his sting, Pizarro allowed five of the Giants' nine hits. He walked four and fanned six. Humberto Robinson was the next Milwaukee hurler, allowing two hits in three innings. Don McMahon toiled two innings without giving up a hit.

Both the Giants and the Braves missed scoring opportunities. San Francisco leaving three men stranded in the third. The Braves did the same in the seventh as Frank Torre popped out to the catcher. Milwaukee left two on in the first, third and sixth innings.

The five-game series ends today with Carl Willey (8-4), opposing Johnny Antonelli, (14-10).

Haney Says Knowing Game Just Part of Manager's Job

BY JOE REICHLER

Milwaukee — Fred Haney, a successful major league manager today must be a public relations man, a psychiatrist and, at times, a mind reader. Of course, he must know baseball, too.

"It used to be that a manager just had to know baseball," said Fred Haney, 60-year-old pilot of the Milwaukee Braves. "Today he's got to make a closer study of his men. He's got to boost some, appease some and drive others. He should be aware of the players' personal problems and know something about their family life. Then, there's the press, radio and the general public."

It is Haney's belief, too, that today's players demand more freedom, more personal attention and are more inquisitive of a manager's strategy.

"A manager has to explain some of his moves to the players, today," explained Haney, who has put in 41 years in baseball as a player, coach, broadcaster and manager. "Let's take a specific case."

"Johnny Logan was batting with Wes Covington on second and Bill Bruton on first. The count was three balls and one strike. Ordinarily, that's the time to hit away, but I gave John the take sign. He stepped out of the box and looked in my direction. He didn't want to take it."

He Was Hurt
"When he came to the bench, I called him aside. I could see he was hurt."

"John," I said, "Both Bruton and Covington have bad knees. They can't run fast. I didn't want to take a chance on a hit-and-run. Even a single probably wouldn't have scored Covington. Besides, you're a good enough hitter to take a strike and swing at the 3-2 pitch."

Haney didn't tell Logan that he preferred to gamble with the next hitter, Eddie Mathews, who was more apt to hit the long ball.

Emily's Pride, Driven by Flick Nipe, crosses the finish line ahead of Sandalwood, with Ralph Baldwin up, to win her second and deciding heat and the Hambletonian stake Wednesday at Du. Quoin, Ill.

Win Worth $62,570.92

Emily's Pride Sets Hambletonian Record

Duquoin, Ill. — A filly who set a record and an old man rubbing a rabbit's foot are part of the 1958 Hambletonian story.

A pre-race favorite, speedy Emily's Pride broke Hoot Mon's 11-year-old Hambletonian record of 2:00 with a third heat time of 1:59.45 for the mile trot.

Driven by 64-year-old Flick Nipe and trained by 78-year-old Fred Egan, Emily's Pride turned on a burst of speed at the finish of the decisive heat to edge out Sandalwood by half a length in the race for 3-year-old trotters.

Rabbit's Foot

"This is the third Hambletonian I've won with a special rabbit's foot," said Egan, waving his lucky charm. "I guess there must be something to it."

Egan won in 1940 and 1949, both times as a driver.

A second-heat stumble on a sulky wheel placed Emily's Pride in the No. 12 spot for the third trip around the Duquoin State Fairground track, before a crowd of 22,500.

She won the first heat in 2:00.15 after a stretch battle with Mr. Saunders and Sharp shooter, the third of the pre-race favorites that included Emily's Pride and Sandalwood.

2nd in 2:02

The second heat was won in 2:02 by Little Rocky, an outsider who took second place in the over-all standings with a fourth place in the third heat. Little Rocky was last in the first heat.

Third and fourth in the over-all results were Mr. Saunders and Sandalwood. Sharpshooter finished sixth behind McCoolby. From there it was Great Lullwater, Mix Hanover, Lumber Along, Gang Awa, Baron Colby, Record Mat, Spunky Hanover, and Florella Hanover.

Victory in the $106,719.24 classic was worth $62,750.92.

Covington's Knee Won't Need Surgery

Crandall Continues Role as Most Undersung Brave

San Francisco — (P)—Manager Fred Haney said Wednesday night that the Milwaukee Braves slugging left fielder Wes Covington, will not need surgery after the close of the regular season.

"Wes will have to put his left knee in a cast for about two or three weeks," Haney explained, "so that the knee will have a complete rest for that period. But later it should be as good as new."

Covington hurt his knee just before the opening of the regular season, but playing only part-time has hit 23 home runs while hitting .332. He has 65 runs-batted-in.

A Shame
"It's a shame he got hurt," Haney said. "There's no telling how far the kid might have gone. He has a tremendous potential, and it would have been interesting to see what he could have done with two sound knees."

While Covington has been Milwaukee's hard luck player this year, catcher Del Crandall, enjoying one of his better seasons, has been nominated as the Braves' most overworked and probably most undersung player.

His performance this year has been a vital and steady factor in the march of the world champions toward another pennant.

20 Points Higher
Right now the 28-year-old backstop is hitting about 20 points above his average at the same stage last year. And in the 1957 stretch drive his bat failed and he finished the season with a .253 rating. Since an early season spurt that carried him over the .300 mark, Crandall has been meeting the ball at a consistent .275-.280 clip.

He has 18 homers, four more than he collected in the complete campaign a year ago. And there are indications that his hitting was helped by an injury.

During spring training Crandall complained of an elbow trouble that refused to respond to treatment. So he compensated by shorting his swing.

Formerly strictly a pull hitter to left, Crandall has been knocking the ball into center and right on occasion. The scatter hitting has added 20 runs to his RBI total, giving him 55 for the year.

Omro Bowmen Slate Deer Shoot

Sunday the Omro Bowhunters will hold their fifth annual "White-tail Broadhead" shoot at the club shooting grounds, located one mile west of Waukau on Highway 116, about 10 miles west of Oshkosh.

Registration for the shoot will be from 8 o'clock in the morning until 3 in the afternoon. The fee is $1 for seniors, 50 cents for juniors, and 25 cents for cadets. There is no restriction as to membership.

The shoot will be the "Necedar" type, in which only one arrow is shot, with a possibility of another arrow which counts only one-half as much if the first one fails to hit the mark. There will be seven deer-shaped targets in different poses. Only hunting arrows will be allowed, except cadets (boys under 14) may use either hunting or field arrows.

Furlow Hurls Foxes to 10-3 Win Over A's

Rick Rogers and Lane Akers to force in a run and then Mel Wright singled to center for another tally. Furlow fanned pitcher Hill to end the inning and Winona's scoring for the night.

Six in Third
The Foxes went ahead with six runs in the third. Furlow and Don Dantoni struck out, but Hall doubled to left center. Tano singled to center for one run and Carlos Pascual singled to left, sending Tano to third.

"Tex" Taylor rapped a double to right, counting Tano and then Van Dyke teed off for a 3-run, 345-foot homer over the right center field fence. It was his ninth homer of the year and boosted his RBI total to 71.

Payne followed with a solo homer down the left field line at the 315-foot mark, his eighth of the season. Reliever Hal Raether then came in and got Hank Marockie to ground out.

Add Run
The Foxes added a run in the sixth on Marockie's infield hit, a force out and Hall's triple to center.

In the 3-run Fox Cities eighth Dantoni singled to right and went to third when the throw went into right field in an attempted pick-off play. Hall struck out but reached first when the third strike—a wild pitch—got away from catcher Rick Rogers, as Dantoni scored.

Then Tano homered, his sixteenth of the season, for two runs.

From the second to the sixth inning Furlow allowed only one base-runner.

3 Top U. S. Players All See First-Round Action in Tourney

BY WILL GRIMSLEY
Forest Hills, N.Y. — (P)—Malcolm Anderson of Australia opens defense of his U.S. men's tennis championship Friday against Bob Perry of Los Angeles.

The skinny Queensland Cowboy, whose $5,000 private tour is the object of an official probe, will play the second featured match on the center court at the West Side Tennis club.

The United States' three seeded players, Hamilton Richardson, Barry MacKay and Dick Savitt, all see action on the first day's card.

Richardson, former top-ranked American player who says his showing in this tournament may decide his Davis Cup plans, will face Tony Vincent of New York.

MacKay, of Dayton, Ohio, goes against James Shakespear of Hollywood, Fla. Sav-

U. S. Uneasy Over Problem Of Integration

High Court Order Ambiguous; Dropped Legal Proceedings

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—President Eisenhower reflected accurately the uneasiness of the whole country on the school integration problem when he said to his press conference that he may have told friends recently in personal conversation that he wished the courts would proceed more slowly with their enforcement orders.

The truth is the whole situation is badly confused. The supreme court of the United States itself used an ambiguous phrase when, in 1955, it ordered the desegregation of the schools "with all deliberate speed." What is meant by deliberate and what is meant by speed? The U. S. circuit court of appeals at St. Louis two weeks ago interpreted this to mean it must ignore realities—the demoralization in the classrooms of Little Rock's Central High School—and regard only the legalities.

But the real blunder was written into the pages of history by the supreme court in its 1954 decision when it frankly abandoned all pretense of deciding the question of desegregation on the basis of legal rulings of the past and introduced an intangible factor—sociology—by declaring that "separate educational facilities are inherently unequal."

Legislative Chamber This is an example of what the conference of state chief justices undoubtedly had in mind when, by a vote of 36 to 8, it declared in a resolution adopted last week that the supreme court was trying to render decisions on the basis not of what is necessarily constitutional but on "what it may deem desirable." It isn't the function of the supreme court to do this. In fact, Judge Learned Hand of New York, famous member of the U. S. circuit court of appeals, now retired, warns that the supreme court has lately been taking on the aspect of a "third legislative chamber."

One of the most tragic things about the whole integration controversy has been the tendency to minimize the feeling of the people of the south and to look upon their attitude intolerantly, as merely a disrespect for law or for the constitution. Progress in a democracy in the solution of vexatious problems will never be made if one side merely calls names and doesn't wish to listen to the arguments of the other side.

Most regrettable, of course, is the general unfamiliarity, exhibited in so many quarters, with the difference between a court decision and a federal law. Thus, for instance, when Gov. Faubus, in addressing the Arkansas legislature this week, pointed out that the women citizens of America had not been given the vote by a court decree but by a constitutional amendment, many people were surprised. They didn't realize that the Fourteenth amendment was never construed by the supreme court to nullify state laws governing the right of males only to vote. The courts never said that women were being denied "equal protection of the law" or that their privileges as citizens were being infringed under the Fourteenth amendment.

Also Separate Schools The truth is the Fourteenth amendment was adopted by a congress which never had the slightest idea that this would ever be used to impose integration in the schools. For the same congress that passed the Fourteenth amendment enacted a law providing for separate schools for whites and Negroes in the national capital itself.

The Fourteenth amendment, moreover, specifically gives to congress the power to enforce the provisions of the amendment, and no federal law has ever been passed covering school integration throughout the country. Small wonder that the people of the south feel they have every right to use any legal method to test the scope of the supreme court's 1954 decision by the passage of state laws permitting integration by voluntary means and furnishing financial aid to students to attend private schools if they don't want to attend public schools that are integrated.

Yet this very method of trying to deal with the school problem by new state laws is characterized as defiant in press dispatches reporting that the Arkansas legislature, by overwhelming vote, had just adopted such laws. There is no defiance when the proper legal procedures are utilized.

The segregation controversy is no longer sectional. People in all parts of the country want the matter handled with restraint and with calmness, just as President Eisenhower has counseled. They do not want to see any governmental institution giving vent to the totalitarian impulse which disregards the evolutionary processes of reason and patience and instead employs brute force precipitately to enforce an ambiguously worded court decree.

This Perspective of Woodlawn school in Grand Chute by Architect George Narovec shows the school as it will look in about eight months when construction on its third addition is finished. The original frame school is at the far left. The third addition, which begins at about the center of the drawing, will have a face brick exterior, tar and gravel roof, aluminum windows, tile floors and acoustical tile ceilings. Other additions to the school were made in 1952 and 1954.

Begin Work On Addition At Woodlawn

Construction is beginning on the third addition to Woodlawn school in the town of Grand Chute and is expected to be finished in eight months.

The third and largest addition will be about 110 feet long and 70 feet wide. It will include four classrooms, toilet facilities, heat plant, storage space and a new septic tank and drainage field. The exterior of the fireproof addition will be face brick. It will have aluminum windows, a tar and gravel roof, ceramic and asphalt tile floors and acoustical tile ceilings.

Low bids for the building were $56,461 for architectural trades from Roland Hopfensperger, $5,839 for electrical work from Mullen Electric company, $11,962 for heating and ventilating from Towne, Inc., and $12,478 for plumbing from E. J. Rippl, Menasha. The first addition to the school in 1952 included the renovation of the original frame building and addition of washrooms, auxiliary storage and one classroom.

The second, in 1954, added a new heating plant, two classrooms and auxiliary spaces. The school capacity, when the third addition is completed, will be about 280 students.

Experts Tell Of Peril From Russian Subs

Report American Cities Could be Wiped Out in 1960s

BY ERNEST B. VACCARO
Washington —(AP)— A group of experts warned today that by the early 1960s missile-firing Russian submarines will be capable of devastating American cities.

"A massive attack with such weapons could level our entire urban society," said the Underseas Warfare panel. The group was formed to advise the military subcommittee of the house-senate atomic energy committee.

In its 16-page report, the panel painted a picture of grave peril ahead for the United States unless this nation's own submarine and anti-submarine programs are pushed with more vigor and on a much larger scale.

"In a future war," the report said, "the ocean could be our enemy as never before."

Suggestions Listed
Therefore, said the panel, it was making these recommendations for meeting the danger:

The navy should proceed with all speed with construction of submarines capable of firing the 1,500-mile Polaris ballistic missile. Present plans call for the first of these submarines to be available in 1960.

The Polaris submarine program should be kept separate from the navy's regular ship budget. Polaris money requests should be determined by the secretary of defense and the national security council as part of the nation's over-all strategic deterrent budget.

There should be a significant increase in the rate and scale of building attack submarines—the ones that track down enemy subs. The report described as too small a navy goal of some 75 attack submarines by 1970.

The navy's research and development budget for under-sea warfare should be doubled, with substantial increases year by year. There should also be a substantial increase in the navy's budget for basic research.

Greater use should be made of universities, private research centers and industry for grappling with undersea warfare problems.

The report was released by Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.), chairman of the military subcommittee. Sections of the report were censored by the defense department.

Errant Airwaves Blot Senator

Green Bay — Something went wrong here Wednesday night at the elaborately planned rally marking the anniversary of Sen. Proxmire's victory.

As 450 Democrats waited expectantly for a network radio broadcast by the senator from Madison the switch was turned.

But somebody (possibly a Republican) pulled the wrong switch and the Riverside ballroom audience instead got a description of the Green Bay Bluejays engaged in a baseball game in Iowa. Proxmire's speech never did get through.

Fined $100 for Conduct After Charge Cut

A Milwaukee man charged with taking a 17-year-old Little Chute girl to Milwaukee was fined $100 today after Dist. Atty. George Greisch reduced the charge to disorderly conduct. The charge originally was contributing to the delinquency of a minor, a felony. Disorderly conduct is a misdemeanor.

Thomas Braun, 24, has served six days in the county jail and faces 24 more if he does not pay the fine.

He admitted taking Donna Wiegert, 1007 LaFollette street, to Milwaukee, but said she was taken to a bus station shortly after her arrival. The girl has not returned to her home.

Greisch told the court today the state could not prove the contributing charge. Sheriff's Lt. Jack Frenzl testified that witnesses saw Braun, also known as Johnson and Brown, with the girl in taverns in the Little Chute area.

Braun admitted taking the girl to taverns, but said he did not know she was 17. Braun is married and the father of three children.

Father Denies Neglect Charge in Child's Death

Clintonville Supplies Food to Family
In Which 10-Month-Old Starved Last Week

Waupaca—Robert Karl, 31, of N. Twelfth street, Clintonville, denied contributing to the neglect that led to the death by starvation of his 10-month-old son, Dennis Jay, Aug. 20, when he was arraigned before Justice George Whalen Wednesday morning.

Justice Whalen ordered a preliminary hearing for Sept. 3 and Karl was held under $500 bond.

Dist. Atty. Gerald Anderson said this morning Karl faces a jail term of one year or a fine of $500 if convicted.

Emergency Supplies

Ald. Lloyd Zaddock, chairman of the Clintonville council's poor committee, cooperating with the county welfare officers investigating the death, has ordered emergency supplies given Mrs. Karl and her six other children.

The poor committee will study an extension of aid to the family when it meets Monday night.

Zaddock said the city had given the family $437.48 in relief aid from Jan. 6 to March 31, 1958, while Karl was serving a 145-day jail term under the Huber law. He said the relief was over the maximum required by the state.

Arrived in 1957

The Karl family moved to Clintonville in September, 1957, from a farm near Weyauwega where they lived for two months after living in Appleton for 10 months. According to relief regulations, the family's legal residence is Oshkosh.

Mrs. Mayda Killeen, Oshkosh, director of public welfare, was unavailable for comment this morning on the as-stance the city afforded the family.

News of the death of the child was withheld until rumors led Clintonville Police Chief Len Manser to investigate. The cause of the child's death was certified as malnutrition and starvation.

There are six other children in the Karl family ranging in age from 2 to 11. Investigators reported the children in good condition.

Children Scrounge

They apparently were able to scrounge for themselves, one investigator said. "The baby was unable to do it."

Karl has a police record in Winnebago and Outagamie county dating to 1947 when he was a resident of Berlin.

On Jan. 3, he was convicted of four traffic counts in Outagamie municipal court: Operating a vehicle on the left side of the road, failing to stop at a scene of an accident, no driver's license and driving an unregistered car.

He was sentenced to pay a total of $295.75 in fines or serve 145 days in the county jail. He was sent to the Shawano county jail to serve out the term under the Huber law because he was employed as a welder at the Four Wheel Drive Auto company in Clintonville.

He was laid off at FWD on June 19. Since then he had part time work in a canning factory and on construction jobs.

3 Boys Caught Tossing Matches Near Bank

Three boys, two 14 and one 15, were reprimanded by police and firemen Wednesday afternoon after they were caught throwing matches from the roof of a building adjoining the Appleton State bank, 221 W. College avenue. Firemen said there had been a small fire in the rear of the building about a year ago and the cause had never been established. The youths were turned over to their parents.

Workman Injures Back While Lifting Shaft

Charles Evans, 34, 406 S. Lee street, was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital this morning by Larry's ambulance after he received a back injury at Appleton Machine company, 618 S. Oneida street. Evans said he was lifting a shaft when it slipped and he fell. He was held at the hospital.

Taxpayers Group Will Discuss Member Drive

Directors of the Appleton Taxpayers association will meet at 12:15 Friday afternoon at the Conway hotel to discuss a general membership drive scheduled for September. Also on the agenda for discussions of the group's constitution and budget.

Midget Motorist

Raleigh, N. C. — Timothy Lee Bunn, 34-years-old, decided to go for a drive in the family car. He climbed in the vehicle, released the brakes, shifted the gears to neutral and it started rolling down hill. The car struck a telephone pole, causing $25 damage.

Consternation reigned in the William H. Wachtendonk household, 908 N. Harriman street, Wednesday night when the family read the evening paper.

Their first girl child was listed as a boy in the birth announcements. The Wachtendonks have five sons, Danny, 12; Billy, 10; Jimmy, 8; Alan, 4; and Jack, 2. They are proud of their one and only baby sister.

Forgive us, kids, it wasn't our fault.

3 Men to Show Guide Dogs for Blind in Appleton

Rowe will work blindfolded with one dog at a time on the avenue and in stores.

Appleton Jaycees Plan Year's Events

Market Down; Trade Active

Usual Pre-Labor Day
Caution Showing,
Stock Brokers Say

New York — Copper, steels and chemicals took losses as the stock market declined in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

Leading issues were off from fractions to about a point. There were scattered gainers.

Industrials took the brunt of the selling. Rails and utilities were off a bit and copper stocks fell. Chemicals, motors, tobaccos and drugs also showed minus signs. Air crafts, oils and mail orders were mixed.

Turnover slackened from its three-million-share rate of Wednesday. Brokers said the usual pre-Labor day caution was asserting itself.

Take Beer Ads

Curtis Publishing continued strong on word that its Saturday Evening Post would now accept beer and liquor advertising. Curtis was up 1/2.

Union Oil of California rose more than two points as rumors again cropped up that Gulf Oil, which owns $120 million worth of its debentures, may take some bullish action. The stock chopped its gain following a published statement that no negotiations were in progress for the sale of Union Oil's facilities, Gulf Oil dipped fractionally.

Kennecott and International Nickel fell well over a point. U.S. Steel and National Steel also lost a point or more. Losses of a point or so were also taken by Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak and United Aircraft.

U.S. government bonds declined.
